Foreword.

MAY this written monument revive in your memories your school days in 1924. May those of you who are not of the class of 1924 read this chronicle of our last year here and receive from it an added incentive to mount the ladder of education. May those of you who read this annual in years to come think of the good times—whether work or play—of your days in Springfield High School and of the lasting friendships you made there with both teachers and class-mates.

DWIGHT W. McCOY
Principal

Principal Dwight McCoy.

When Mr. McCoy came to us at the beginning of this school year, faculty and students wondered Would he be an "easy mark" or a cold domineering sort of person? As it happens he has been neither, for seldom has it been the lot of any principal to be so popular and yet to keep such a firm hand on the student body, as he has done. His cheerful, sincere manner has won for him a place in the heart of the entire school and his ideas of fair play and good sportsmanship have caused him to be admired by all who have come in contact with him.

Assistant Principal Lyman K. Davis.

How a person with an unpopular job can be well liked is demonstrated by Mr. Davis, our assistant principal. It is his task to assign detention for tardiness, cuts, and general rowdyism and through it all he has seemed to keep his good disposition. He is popular with the students because of his enthusiastic interest and support in all school activities.

At the opening of school in September after the summer vacation is over and everyone is ready for work the session rooms are assigned. Each session room elects two representatives, one girl and one boy, to have a voice in the student government.

When the first meeting of these representatives is called they elect one senator. The faculty advisor appoints the other one depending on whether a boy or girl is elected by the body of representatives.

The Senate is composed of eight members, a girl and a boy from each respective class. They meet with the principal of the school at regular times to discuss school problems. They carry immediate questions of the students before the principal and other Senators for discussion.

Representatives.

TWO representatives are elected from each session room. These meet by classes twice a month to carry on the work of class legislation, and, at the first of the school year, to elect one of the class senators. At intervals, throughout the year, the representatives of all of the classes sit in joint session as the House of Representatives to ratify steps taken by the Student Senate. The representatives are kept in touch with the class committees by the class presidents, who with the class secretaries, are ex-officio representatives.

Senior Class.

On June 12, 1924 the largest number of students ever graduated from this high school will turn the tassel on their caps. During their four years of work and play they have showed greatly their school and class spirit. In this year they have met with success in everything they started out to do, except track. A great discussion was held as to where to hold the class picnic and commencement exercises and both sides in both discussions seemed to be well balanced. Finally deciding to have our picnic in Decatur on Lake Decatur and with the Seniors of that city and also to hold the commencement exercises in the Arsenal instead of the High School.

Much credit should be given our faculty advisor, E. H. Harriman; our class officers; class committees; senators; and representatives; for the success of our year.

Junior Class.

Having increased every year in the success of scholarship and class activities, we have high hopes for the next school year. Losing the class track by a very few points in our Sophomore year, we won the track meet this year. We entertained the high and mighty Seniors at a beautiful dance and social, the Junior-Senior Prom. We owe much credit to our faculty advisor, Mr. S. S. Simpson; the class officers; senators; and representatives.

Sophomore Class.

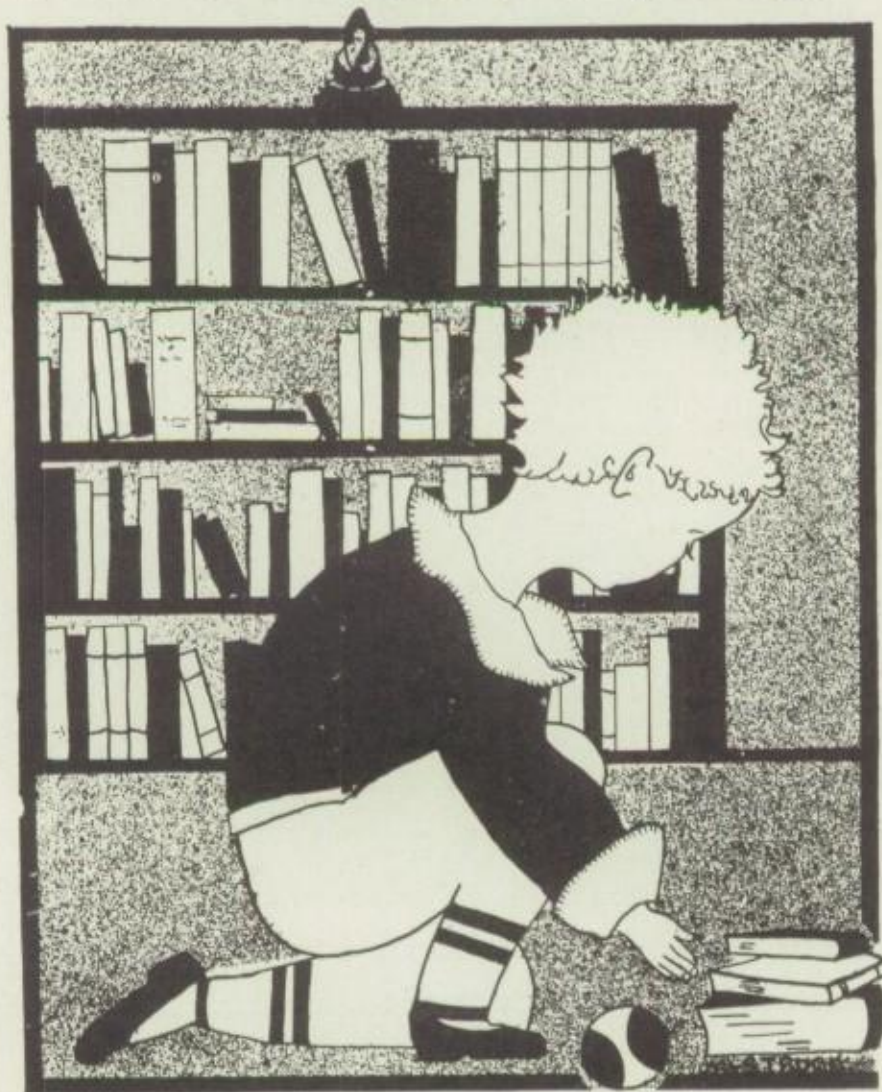

Finishing the first half of our High School career, we look back with pride at what we have accomplished and look to the future with hope of a higher degree of success. Finishing last in our Freshman year at the Class Track, we came up to second place this year, losing by two points to the Juniors in the last event. We owe much credit to our faculty advisor, Mr. Thompson; our class officers; senators; and representatives.

FRESHMAN

Assistant Principal Nichols.

Mr. Nichols has been with us but a short time, however it has been long enough to demonstrate that he is an ideal mandate for our Freshmen in the Central Building. Everyone who notes the smooth-running order of Central should give due credit to Mr. Nichols who operates the machinery.

President,
JOE MUNN

Vice-President,
GEORGE KEYS

Secretary,
JEROME BURTLE

Treasurer,
HELEN MILLER

Freshman Class.

Having climbed successfully the first fourth of the hill of knowledge, we are looking forward into the future in hopes of some day being able to act as high and noble Seniors and get a chance to look down where we came from and say "Do you remember when we were Cooties, but look at us now." We have the largest class of Freshmen in the Springfield Class History, having over 800 in the Central High and 300 in the Senior High.

On July 20, 1857, the Committee on Examination of Teachers was instructed to see whether or not the course of study in the public school system of Springfield should be revised. On the 27th of the same month the committee presented their report which covered eight closely written ledger pages. It so happened that at this time higher English courses were being taught in the schools; the committee advised that these be dropped and a new department be organized which was to be known as "The Department of Science" and was to include Natural Philosophy, Physical Geography, Elements of Algebra, Physiology and Hygiene, General Exercises in the Elements of Elocution and in Composition, and the Grammar of Composition and Declamation. The instructor of this branch was to be a male and receive $500 a year.

This was the fifth resolution of the committee. After the presentation of the report Mr. John A. McClernand moved that this resolution be stricken from the record and the following inserted:

"Resolved, That a Central or High School be established with such rules, regulations and course of study as hereafter may be adopted, to be taught by a competent teacher hereafter to be selected, said school to be taught in some central and convenient building."

Five voted for this amendment and two opposed. This was the first official act relating to the establishment of a free High School in the City of Springfield.

Mr. McClernand was named on the committee to recommend studies for the High School and on August 24, 1857, he was able to report the following:

For the male pupils: Natural Philosophy, Moral Philosophy, Political Economy, Surveying and Bookkeeping.

For the female pupils: The same studies, with the substitution of Botany and Physiology for Surveying and Bookkeeping.

Before being adopted the report was amended so as to include Algebra, Geometry, and a review of Grammar, Geography and Arithmetic. Two weeks later Mr. Beaumont Parks was elected the first Principal of the High School and had as his assistant Mr. Charles D. Arnold.

The school was duly opened in a small building in the Third Ward, on "Market" Street (Capitol Avenue) just west of Spring Street. However, this building was too small and not sufficiently central in its location. Therefore it was moved to a building in the Fourth Ward, now known as the Lincoln School. Here Mr. Andrew Brooks was made the principal and there were forty-two pupils enrolled under his supervision here.

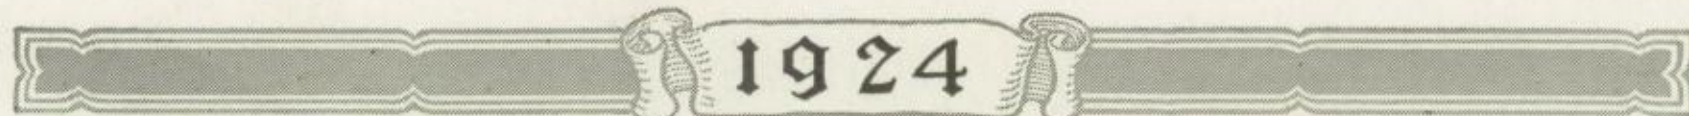

During the year 1858-1859 several changes were effected in the High School. The course of study was revised and a classical course, including Greek and Latin, was provided for. This was for the benefit of the pupil preparing to enter college. Those who attended the High School and yet lived outside the city were charged a tuition fee of $21. Mr. George Tourtellot was elected principal and Miss Sophia Chapin assistant principal.

The third year of its existence saw the High School located in the Academy Building on South Fifth Street between Monroe and Market Street; and here it stayed with 90 pupils and four teachers. At the close of the sixth year the Board deemed the building unsuitable and petitioned the Council for a new one.

The Council saw that a new building was necessary and started preparations immediately, but it was several years before the location of the site could be agreed upon. It became an important question of the civic life of Springfield and an issue at city elections. Many illustrious statesmen were deprived of further glory because of their standpoint on this question. Finally the southeast corner of Madison and Fourth Streets was selected and in 1865 a new building was completed at a cost of $65,000.

For almost a third of a century the school was conducted in this building and thirty-three classes were graduated from it. As educational improvements were introduced changes were made in the course of study. It seems that in the early years the boys and girls were kept separated. We find among the studies required for several years Evidences of Christianity, Moral Philosophy and Mental Philosophy. In 1883 an outline of English work for the four years was prepared.

In 1887 the first move was taken to have the High School placed on the accredited list of the University of Michigan. A committee composed of the faculty of the University made an examination and gave a favorable report. Therefore pupils from Springfield High School were admitted to the University upon certificates which stated that they had completed the work here. This committee also examined several other important High Schools in the state but refused admittance to them. Since then graduates have been admitted to Cornell, Wellesley, Vassar, University of Illinois, Chicago and others.

A two years business course was added and also a course in manual training with a credit given as in the other branches. Later Physics, Chemistry and Biology with excellent apparatus for research work in the laboratory, were installed.

Nevertheless the building at the corner of Madison and Fourth Streets became too small for the growing educational demands of Springfield. The location, too, was becoming unsuitable. The noise of the trains on the adjacent streets made conditions awkward, as did the manufacturing concerns that established their factories very close to the school. In the fall of 1897 a High School was constructed between Washington and Adams Streets; and the regular routine of duties began the October of that year. The building was 200 feet long, 100 feet wide and consisted of three stories and basement. Its capacity was 800 pupils and it was erected at a cost of $75,000.

In the second year of this High School the plan of semi-annual promotions was adopted. The advantage of this was to permit those who were failing to advance with their classmates to lose only half a year's time instead of a whole year. In this manner classes were admitted regularly in September and February. Before 1882 entrance to the High School could be gained by examination only. The eighth grade pupils would go to the High School building and take examinations that necessitated two days' writing. After being closely marked, the names of those who passed were published in the papers and these alone could enter. After 1883 these exams were held in the ward schools. This continued up to 1890, when the daily work and monthly tests of the pupils became the basis of admission. Those with records of 85 or above were not required to take any examination whatsoever.

The requisite number of credits necessary to graduate at that time was 64, 13 to be acquired in the first year's work and 17 for each of the consecutive three years.

Among the teachers that uplifted the youthful minds from 1861-1899 were the Misses Sophia Chapin, Jennie E. Chapin, Mary J. Howard, Emma F. Jones, Maggie Muir, Emily A. Hayward, Mary A. Anderson, Mary H. Kuhl, Mrs. P. A. Baird, Mrs. Mary Feitshans and Mr. E. E. Darrow.

Here the school flourished with Mr. L. M. Castle, F. D. Thompson, and I. M. Allen serving in the capacity of principals. In the superintendent's annual report for the school year of 1913-1914 is found the following:

"There are several school buildings in the city which should be enlarged and improved, but there is no other demand so needed at the present time as that of providing an adequate and modern High School building."

At first it was merely the intention to remodel and enlarge the building on Adams. On January 7, 1915, Mr. Bates moved that a High School committee together with the superintendent and architect investigate on the cost and feasibility of remodeling the school; an expert architect was to be consulted. This motion was unanimously carried and on January 25th a committee was appointed consisting of Mr. Bates, chairman, Mrs. Hanes, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Magill, Superintendent, and Mr. Helmle, architect.

The committee investigated and reported to the effect that the school was so congested and in such a bad condition that efficient work would be impossible and the health of teachers and pupils would be impaired unless some change was brought about. Both the plan of remodeling and a new building were considered but no decision was reached. On February 9, 1915, Mr. Anderson moved that a committee of three be appointed to meet with the committee of the Park Board to see if Forest Park could be obtained as a site for a new High School building. The Board then decided that merely remodeling the old building or building an entire new one could best be done under William B. Ittner of St. Louis as assistant architect to George Helmle, who was architect of the Board.

Mr. M. U. Woodruff, the attorney of the Board, reported on May 20th of the same year that the City Council and Park Board had agreed to turn over to the Board of Education Forest Park for the purpose of a new High School—provided that at a special school election the people would vote in favor of this site.

The Capitoline

Therefore on June 7, 1915, the election was held and the following three propositions were voted on and were all carried:

First—Selection of Forest Park as a site for a new High School building.

Second—The authorizing of $400,000 in bonds to provide the necessary funds for the project.

Third—The erection of a new high school building on this site.

On July 9, 1915, the contract with Ittner and Helmle and a resolution for the sale of $400,000 in bonds was passed; the bids were to be received on August 10.

No one was more active or more interested in the project of the new High School than Mr. George W. Bates and he had at all times pushed and worked toward the fulfillment of this ideal. It was a very cruel blow when it was learned that he had died very suddenly at his home the 9th of August. On the following day injunction proceedings were instituted to prevent the Board from selling the bonds, but this was denied by Judge Creighton.

The Board met August 10th, and the motion to sell the bonds to the highest bidder was defeated by a tie vote, two voting "aye" and two voting "no." During the following September the bonds were sold to Emery, Peck and Rockwood at a premium of $2,375 and accrued interest.

Many bids were received for the erection of the building after the architects' plans had been approved and a resolution was adopted authorizing the Secretary to advertise for the bids. Contracts as follows were awarded January 25, 1916:

Boeke Construction Co., general contract.....	$ 301,710
Peters-Euchler Heating Co., heating contract.....	67,735
Haas Electrical Co., plumbing contract.....	18,176
Cheyne Electrical Co., electrical work.....	6,380
Cheyne Electrical Co., clocks, bells and telephones.....	3,000

Perhaps no more interesting and picturesque spot than Forest Park could have been chosen as the site of the new High School. Here the sturdy pioneers built the first log cabin school in Sangamon County. After the school had disappeared the good church people erected there a little white church and buried their dead in the churchyard as they had done, no doubt, in England or the other countries that they had come from.

The little church was beaten down by Time, but the graves and tombstones remained and the trees and shrubbery and wildflowers, too. So that Mother Nature filled the vacant spot made by the disappearance of the church with beautiful foliage and bright flowers. So quiet and pretty it was that people would come here to rest and the children to play and noticing this, the Park Board transformed it into such a place where people might come and called it Forest Park.

Then Forest Park as aforesaid was turned over to the School Board for a new High School building. Many of the bodies were buried in Oak Ridge Cemetery. It was no unusual sight during the process of excavating the land to unearth many human bones, perhaps of some brave frontiersman or of a warlike Indian, who knows? And at the present time the bones of some worthy are still at rest beneath the foundations of our school.

The trees which line the sidewalks to our main entrance once graced the side of a carriage lane which led to the church. It has been a complete cycle from the little log cabin of primeval times to the modern school of the bustling twentieth century. And as Springfield has grown and expanded so has her educational system. Step by step many buildings have failed to meet the needs of the younger generation in Springfield who are earnestly and eagerly seeking a High School education and now History is repeating herself until today we see this spacious and splendidly equipped building unable to take care of and provide for large number of High School students in Springfield at the present time.

Bulletin Staff.

Miss Wilcox has had the responsibility of writing and editing the Bulletin for the past year. As faculty advisor and instructor of the Journalism classes, she has faithfully and thoroughly executed her task of publishing a real, live bulletin.

Mr. Thomas, circulation manager, has prepared the mailing lists and has seen to it that each and every individual connected with the High School organization received a copy of the Bulletin each week.

Mr. Duke, as business and advertising manager. Mr. Duke collected the subscription fees from the various subscribers of the Bulletin, and secured enough advertising to maintain a large weekly paper.

Miss Graham. In assisting Miss Wilcox, Miss Graham has carried a large portion of the work of writing material for the weekly. She furnished valuable aid in reading proof and laying out the plan of the paper.

The Bulletin.

THE little bi-monthly paper called The Bulletin which was started in 1912 would hardly recognize the Bulletin which we have known in the past year. During 1923-24 our school paper has grown from an under-sized sheet to one of full-fledged newspaper dimensions. The old custom of financing the paper by subscription alone has been abandoned and instead the necessary funds have been obtained partly by a small subscription fee and partly through advertisements of local dealers whose generous response has kept The Bulletin off the financial rocks.

For the first time in its history The Bulletin has been mailed to the homes of its subscribers. This meant that for several weeks the issues were delayed in reaching the readers while a complete mailing list was being compiled by the journalism classes. The students received their papers on Wednesdays and those whose memories harked back to former years missed the Friday afternoons and the thrills that went with them as The Bulletin was distributed, but the shorter time in which we have received the paper more than atoned for the passing of the old tradition.

So popular was the journalism course the first semester that two classes were formed with Miss Wilcox and Miss Graham as faculty advisors. Perhaps rumors of the amount of work required to edit The Bulletin dampened the enthusiasm of many of those with journalistic ambitions, for only one class appeared to carry on the work of two the second semester. Lack of members, however, did not lower the high standard which had been set the previous semester.

The second semester class instituted a literary column and contributions from the Scribblers' Club have become an attractive feature.

The success of The Bulletin this year is in no small measure due to Miss Wilcox and Miss Graham, whose patience, tact and knowledge of journalism have kept the cogs running with no serious disturbances.

MISS BOULDIN

ELIZABETH BURR

Praeco Latinus.

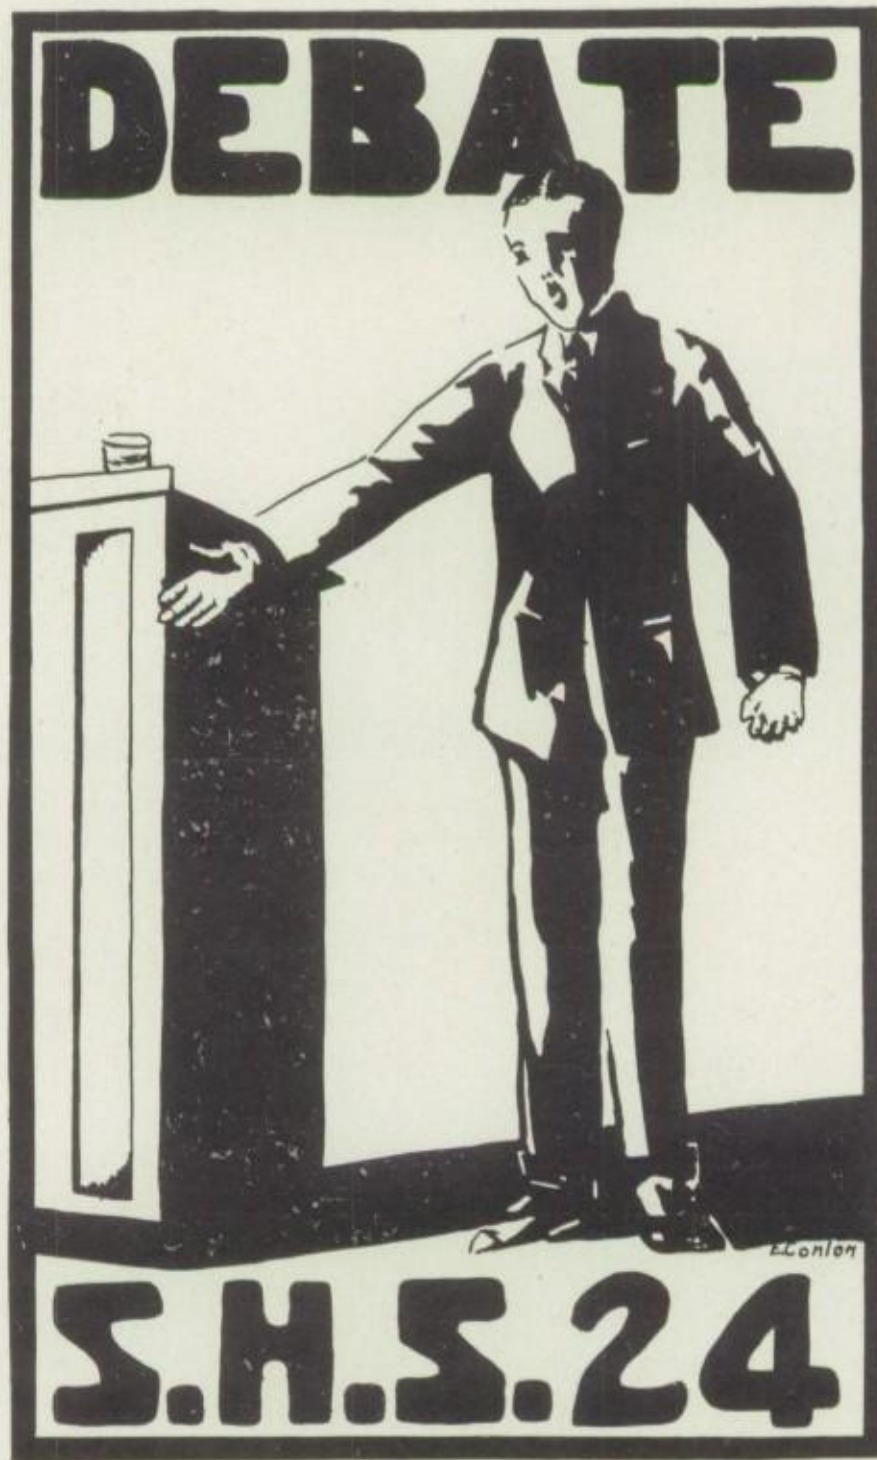

The Praeco Latinus, the Latin Herald, is the name given to the Latin paper published by the Cicero Class, 11"A. The first edition, with Dexter Masters as editor-in-chief, was issued last year when the present Cicero Class was in Caesar. Starting as a modest paper of seven pages, it was issued to members of the two classes publishing it. The present edition is a paper of nineteen pages neatly bound in purple covers. Since the present motto of the paper is that of the Three Musketeers—"Each for all and all for each." Contributions were welcomed from pupils of other classes.

Elizabeth Burr, as editor-in-chief of the present edition has been assisted by a staff consisting of Mary Stuart, Wendell East, Muriel Rodenberg and Bernard Walsh. Much of the material in the paper is written in Latin, some of it is in English.

In a Latin editorial, Elizabeth Burr outlines the purpose and the policy of the paper. There are English poems and Latin poems by members of the class. There is a joke column as well as a "Vox Populi" page. There is a clever parody of the opening lines of the first Catilinarian oration—and an apostrophe to the Assembly. Interspersed among these are Mother Goose rhymes and familiar jingles turned into Latin. Names of popular movies and songs are given in Latin and characterizations and favorite sayings of some of the faculty and student body.

The opening lines of Caesar, familiar to every one who has had second year Latin, is given in rhyming verse by two girls in the Caesar Class. There is an excellent account of the life and work of Caesar by one of the boys.

Four hundred and fifty copies of the paper were sold this year and definite plans are now under way for next year's publication.

S. H. S. Debate.

The first event on Springfield's debating program for 1923-24 was the semi-annual tamping of Decatur. The question to be debated was: "Resolved, that the petit jury should be abolished in the trial of all criminal cases, and in its place there should be established a commission consisting of a pathologist, a psychologist, a sociologist, a criminologist and a lawyer."

On January 4th our affirmative team met Decatur's negative there, and our negative met Decatur's affirmative on the home platform.

DECATUR AT SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield's negative team was composed of Daisy Quarles, Arthur McKinnie, and Lish Whitson. Decatur's team consisted of all new material and was inferior to the S. H. S. team in both constructive speeches and rebuttals. The judges gave a unanimous decision in favor of Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD AT DECATUR.

Our affirmative team which traveled to Decatur consisted of Harold Hubbs, Lucille Breeding, and Robert Scharf. The opposing teams were well matched in both constructive speeches and rebuttal, but the judges could not be convinced, and Decatur was given a 3 to 0 decision.

MR. THOMAS

Debating was given a rest until April 30th when S. H. S. embarked on its annual carnival of spring debates. In addition to the tri-city debates, a debate was scheduled with Taylorville, whom we had decisively beaten the year before. The subject to be debated upon was: "Resolved, that the Johnson Bill is the best plan for settling the immigration question."

SPRINGFIELD AT QUINCY.

Springfield's negative team which went to Quincy consisted of Lucille Breeding, George Irwin, and Lish Whitson. The team was accompanied by Coach Thomas and Elizabeth Hall, alternate. The team showed themselves well acquainted with the question and superior to the Quincy debaters both in constructive speeches and in rebuttal. We were awarded a 2 to 1 decision.

JACKSONVILLE AT SPRINGFIELD.

Harold Hubbs, Margaret Lloyd, and Arthur McKinnie formed the home affirmative team. They were a match for the Jacksonville team in construction, but the invading negative had an upper hand in rebuttals. The debate was hard fought but we lost, getting only one decision. This was the first time in history that Springfield has not won the tri-city debates, the Jacksonville team having beaten the Quincy team also.

SPRINGFIELD AT TAYLORVILLE.

Mr. Davis and Alternate Schnepf accompanied the negative team, consisting of Daisy Quarles, Lillian Hubbs and Jack Orr, to Taylorville. The Springfield debaters had Taylorville's team backed off the map, but due to inexperienced judges, Taylorville was given a 2 to 1 decision.

Five members of the 1924 teams graduate this year—Lish Whitson, Arthur McKinnie, Daisy Quarles, Jack Orr and Robert Scharf. Lucille Breeding, George Irwin, Harold Hubbs, Margaret Lloyd, and Lillian Hubbs form a strong nucleus for the 1924-25 teams, and we can expect a good record for next year.

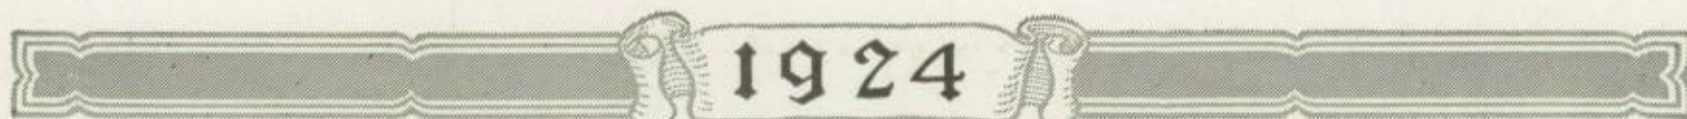

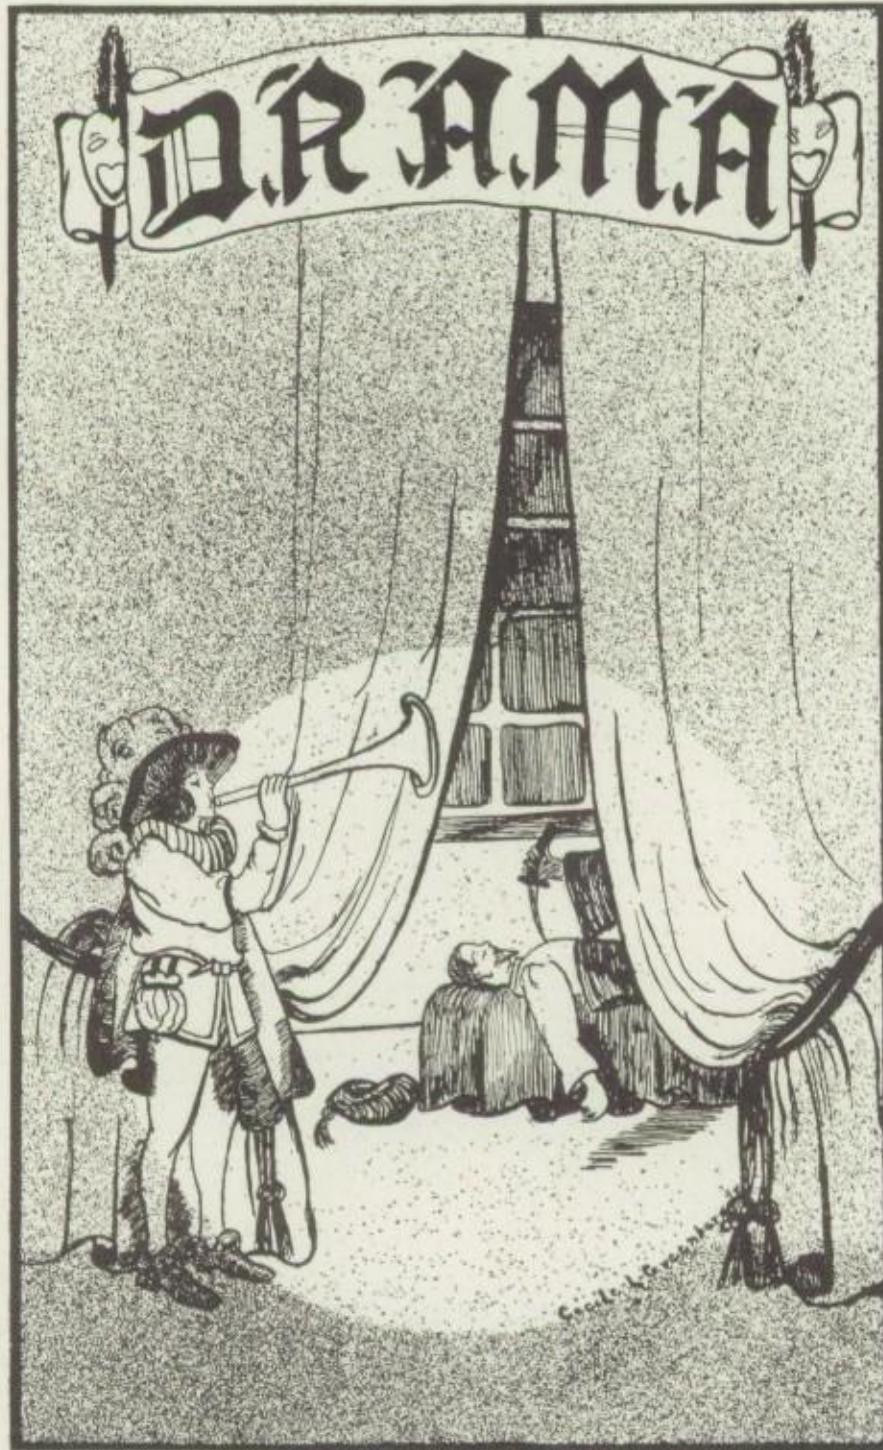

The Intersociety Debate.

“THE Present System of Supervised Study in S. H. S. Should Be Abolished” was the subject debated by the literary societies in their annual debate on the nights of March 27 and 28, five debates being held each night. After the storm had cleared, the Les Bas were victorious on top with only one decision against them, the Delphics capturing this. Many of the debates were very close, the two closest and most interesting were between the Les Bas affirmative and Delphic negative, and between the Philo affirmative and Les Bas negative. The debate that probably aroused the most interest, because of rivalry, was between the two boys societies, when the Delphics affirmative and Wrangler negative met. Much sympathy should be given to the losing Thaliens, who making their debut in debating, fought a hard and close battle with the great odds of having a debator turn up sick at the last moment. Much credit should be given the faculty advisors, who worked hard for the success of this activity; and also to those teachers and patrons who helped to the best of their ability in the ways in which they were asked.

The debates were as follows:

Mar. 27—Les Bas, affirmative.....	3	vs.	Wrangler, negative.....	0
Delphic, affirmative.....	1	vs.	Philo, negative.....	2
Philo, affirmative.....	0	vs.	Les Bas, negative.....	3

Senior Class Play.

What catastrophes arise from trivial misunderstandings! Just because of a coincidence in names everyone thought that Sam Harrington was a great rider, whereas Sam couldn't look a horse in the face without being siezed with epilepsy. In Act I, Perkin, the groom, put Sam on the Hottentot, the wildest broncho that ever saw a steeplechase, because he thought Sam a great horseman. After the might of Peggy Fairfax had partly allayed the pain of his bruises and bites, he was dismayed to find that she also thought him a great horseman, but that impression was softened because Sam knew he loved her. In Act II, plans have been arranged to have Sam ride in the coming steeplechase. Sam, however, to evade being killed, buys the Hottentot; and Swift, the butler, taking pity on him hides Bountiful, Peggy Fairfax's horse. Mrs. Chadwick, Sam's friend, however, has revealed to Larry Crawford, a suitor of Peggy's, that Sam cannot ride and consequently Act III finds Larry discouraged when there is no horse for the pretended rider. Sam braces up and tells Peggy the truth, gives her the Hottentot and rides to victory in the race.

"The Hottentot" was presented on the nights of June 6th and 7th and the successful performance was due to Mrs. Robie, the director. The play is by Victor Mayer and William Collier.

Benefit Plays.

This year in the S. H. S. has proven that for benefits dramatic performances cannot be excelled. When financial aid was needed for the Opportunity Fund or the Bulletin, the dramatic talent in the school solved the problem. The first bill was presented on the night of October 26th for the Opportunity Fund. Three bills were: "Wrong Numbers" by Essex Duane, "The String of Samisen" by Rita Wellman, and "The Mandarin Coat" by Alice Riley. The Bulletin received money from the proceeds of two plays given in the Junior pay assembly on January 18. These two plays were "The Hand of Siva" by Kenneth Goodman and Ben Hecht, and "Square Pegs" by Clifford Box. The Freshman Pageant on February 19th further added to the Bulletin Fund. The pageant, called "In the Merry Springtime," was adopted from the book, "Master Skylark." The "Deacon's Hat" by Jeannette Marks was the last of the benefit plays given for the benefit of the Bulletin. This play was presented by the Sophomore Class. Among other dramatic activities were "Dinner Served" by Frederick Hill, which was the climax of the Band Concert, and "Food" by William deMille, a tragedy of the future, which was presented for the University Women and a number of other societies.

MISS ROURKE

If you want to get away from yourself for a while, to look out upon life with somebody else's eyes, to think some body else's thoughts and feel somebody else's "feels," then come to English 10 where you may chat sweet stolen nothings over a moss covered wall in a woody bower; or be bad, mad, glad old Cappy Ricks; or little Ope-O-My-Thumb with her dreams among the steam and suds; or a sad-happy scissors grinder who finds star-dust in ash barrels and crooked alleys; or a little scrub woman with a dancing soul; or dear old Annie who cuckoos for her dying David.

You may build here in this miniature workshop with miniature tools a miniature setting of Jephthah's dugout among the sand dunes; or Keeney's cabin, whose port-holes reveal sparkling, jagged ice cracking and jamming a joyous message to a wistful woman who longs for home. If your cramped zeal must find larger outlet, you may build the three many-paned windows through which feverish little Tony Sims sees the houses across the street. If you wish, you may paint those houses. And oh, how you may revel in those houses for they can be "Now or Then; Anytime and Anyplace" even in dear Nuremberg with its gay roofs—"flat or painted, grey or brown"—rose windows, tall steeples, and its Red-Cock Inn. Then too you may make many new friends—you will live among the great—and interesting if not great—ones; Eugene O'Neill and his crude grim sailors; Bernard Shaw and his charming Lady Cicely, his noble Candida, his strong Major Barbara; dear piquant Barrie who will introduce to you Peter Pan, Pantaloon, Mary Rose, Dear Brutus, and the Ladies of Quality Street; Lady Gregory, who will have you know Bartley and Mrs. Fallon; William Butler Yeats, who will take you to The Land of Hearts' Desire and that grim old Norseman, Henric Ibsen, who will startle you at least if he doesn't jar and shock you with his merry little mother who finds herself in a Doll's House, when she is no longer a doll and leaves her home and her children. You will censure her severely perhaps now, and then years from now you will wonder if she is to blame, and finally you won't blame her at all, maybe. You will meet Peer Gynt who was so second rate that they would not receive him even in Hell—he wasn't even a first class sinner and when he was molded over by the Button-molder, he was still base metal. You will query about the theme and when finally you understand that it has to do with that gigantic force, heredity, you will pause in awe and then a great pity for Dr. Rank and Oswald Alving will awaken in you and you will learn the great lesson of the individual's duty to posterity. You will come to love this fearless Norwegian, as dauntless as his Viking ancestors, who made the world look at things as they are and you will begin perhaps to look at them that way yourself. I promise you, you will never regret knowing Jeanne D'Arc, Stephen Ghent, Cousin Kate, Sir Davy Little Boy, the Philosopher of Butterbiggens, Vigdis, Everyman, Miranda, Tony Lumpkin and many, many, others whom I cannot take time to mention.

Here, also, you may make some interesting creatures of your own, for each person in this workshop writes an original one-act play. You may lay the scene in Hawk's Place, Sivia's Drug Store, in the land of "Cactus and Tequila," in your own home, or where you will.

Finally you will take a trip back along the road of dramatic development from our younger present day writers to the older contemporaries, such as Shaw, Barrie, and Galsworthy; thence to Ibsen, the "father of modern drama"; then cross the desert between Ibsen and Shakespeare, stopping a moment at the little oasis of Goldsmith and Sheridan; then linger on the summit with Shakespeare for a time before descending the hill from pure comedy and tragedy to the crude interlude at the foot from which you may again ascend passing the milestones of morality, mystery, and miracle plays which were the first plays in England. If time permits you will travel farther back to the origin of drama with the Greeks.

You had better join us for a spell. We may ask you to be anything from Red Riding Hood's wolf to the angel in "Everyman." But it's great to imagine how a wolf thinks and feels, and it's glorious to be an angel. Better come.

—Margaret E. Rourke.

Inter-Society Vaudeville.

THE Inter-Society Vaudeville ceased to be an exclusive feminine affair during this school year, as the fourth annual performance was taken part in by members of the boys as well as the girls societies.

Two performances were given; one immediately after school and another in the evening, on Friday, November 16.

Without doubt, the first act on the program, The Dance of the Thirteen Oak Ridge Roisterers, was the best received. This number because of the ingenious skeleton costumes, the effective lighting and the clever dances accompanied by the sounds of weird music and rattling bones, made a big hit with the audience.

In the second act, Funny Farmers in a Ford, a real sure enough "Henrietta" took part and was assisted by the other members of the cast who cracked several jokes on the audience and favored those present with a number of song specialties.

The third number, A Lovers Quarrel, was taken part in by a large number of pleasing dancers, who danced in spite of the quarrel, and a handsome group of waitresses de luxe.

The $50 Kiss next attracted the attention of the audience. In this act the inevitable fate was again meted out to the country swain who goes to the big city.

The feature of the program was "The Ghost Story," a one act play by Booth Tarkington. The cast was ably supported by a catchy chorus which sang several snappy song features. In the play, after meeting many obstacles the college boy finally gains his lady love's consent and as the saying goes, all's well that ends well, so ended the fourth Inter-Society Vaudeville.

May Day and May Queens.

PERHAPS many are puzzled when asked just what May Day means and why we have a May Queen every year. In olden days May Day was observed by folk dances to celebrate the return of Spring. This is of Gothic origin, especially practiced in England.

May Day is the name popularly given to the first day of May, which among the Germanic and Latin people has been associated from an early period with festal ceremonies, religious in origin. It was long the custom on this day to start before dawn, make excursions to the woods and fields, and return laden with green flowering boughs. It is plain that this festival, which was celebrated by all classes alike, represented the continuance of an ancient pagan ceremony. And there seems to be reason for regarding it as a survival of rites originally offered to the Roman goddess Maia, who was evidently worshiped as the principle and cause of fertility.

Songs and dances, and performances more or less dramatic in character, which were usual on similar occasions, have continued in popular use to the present day.

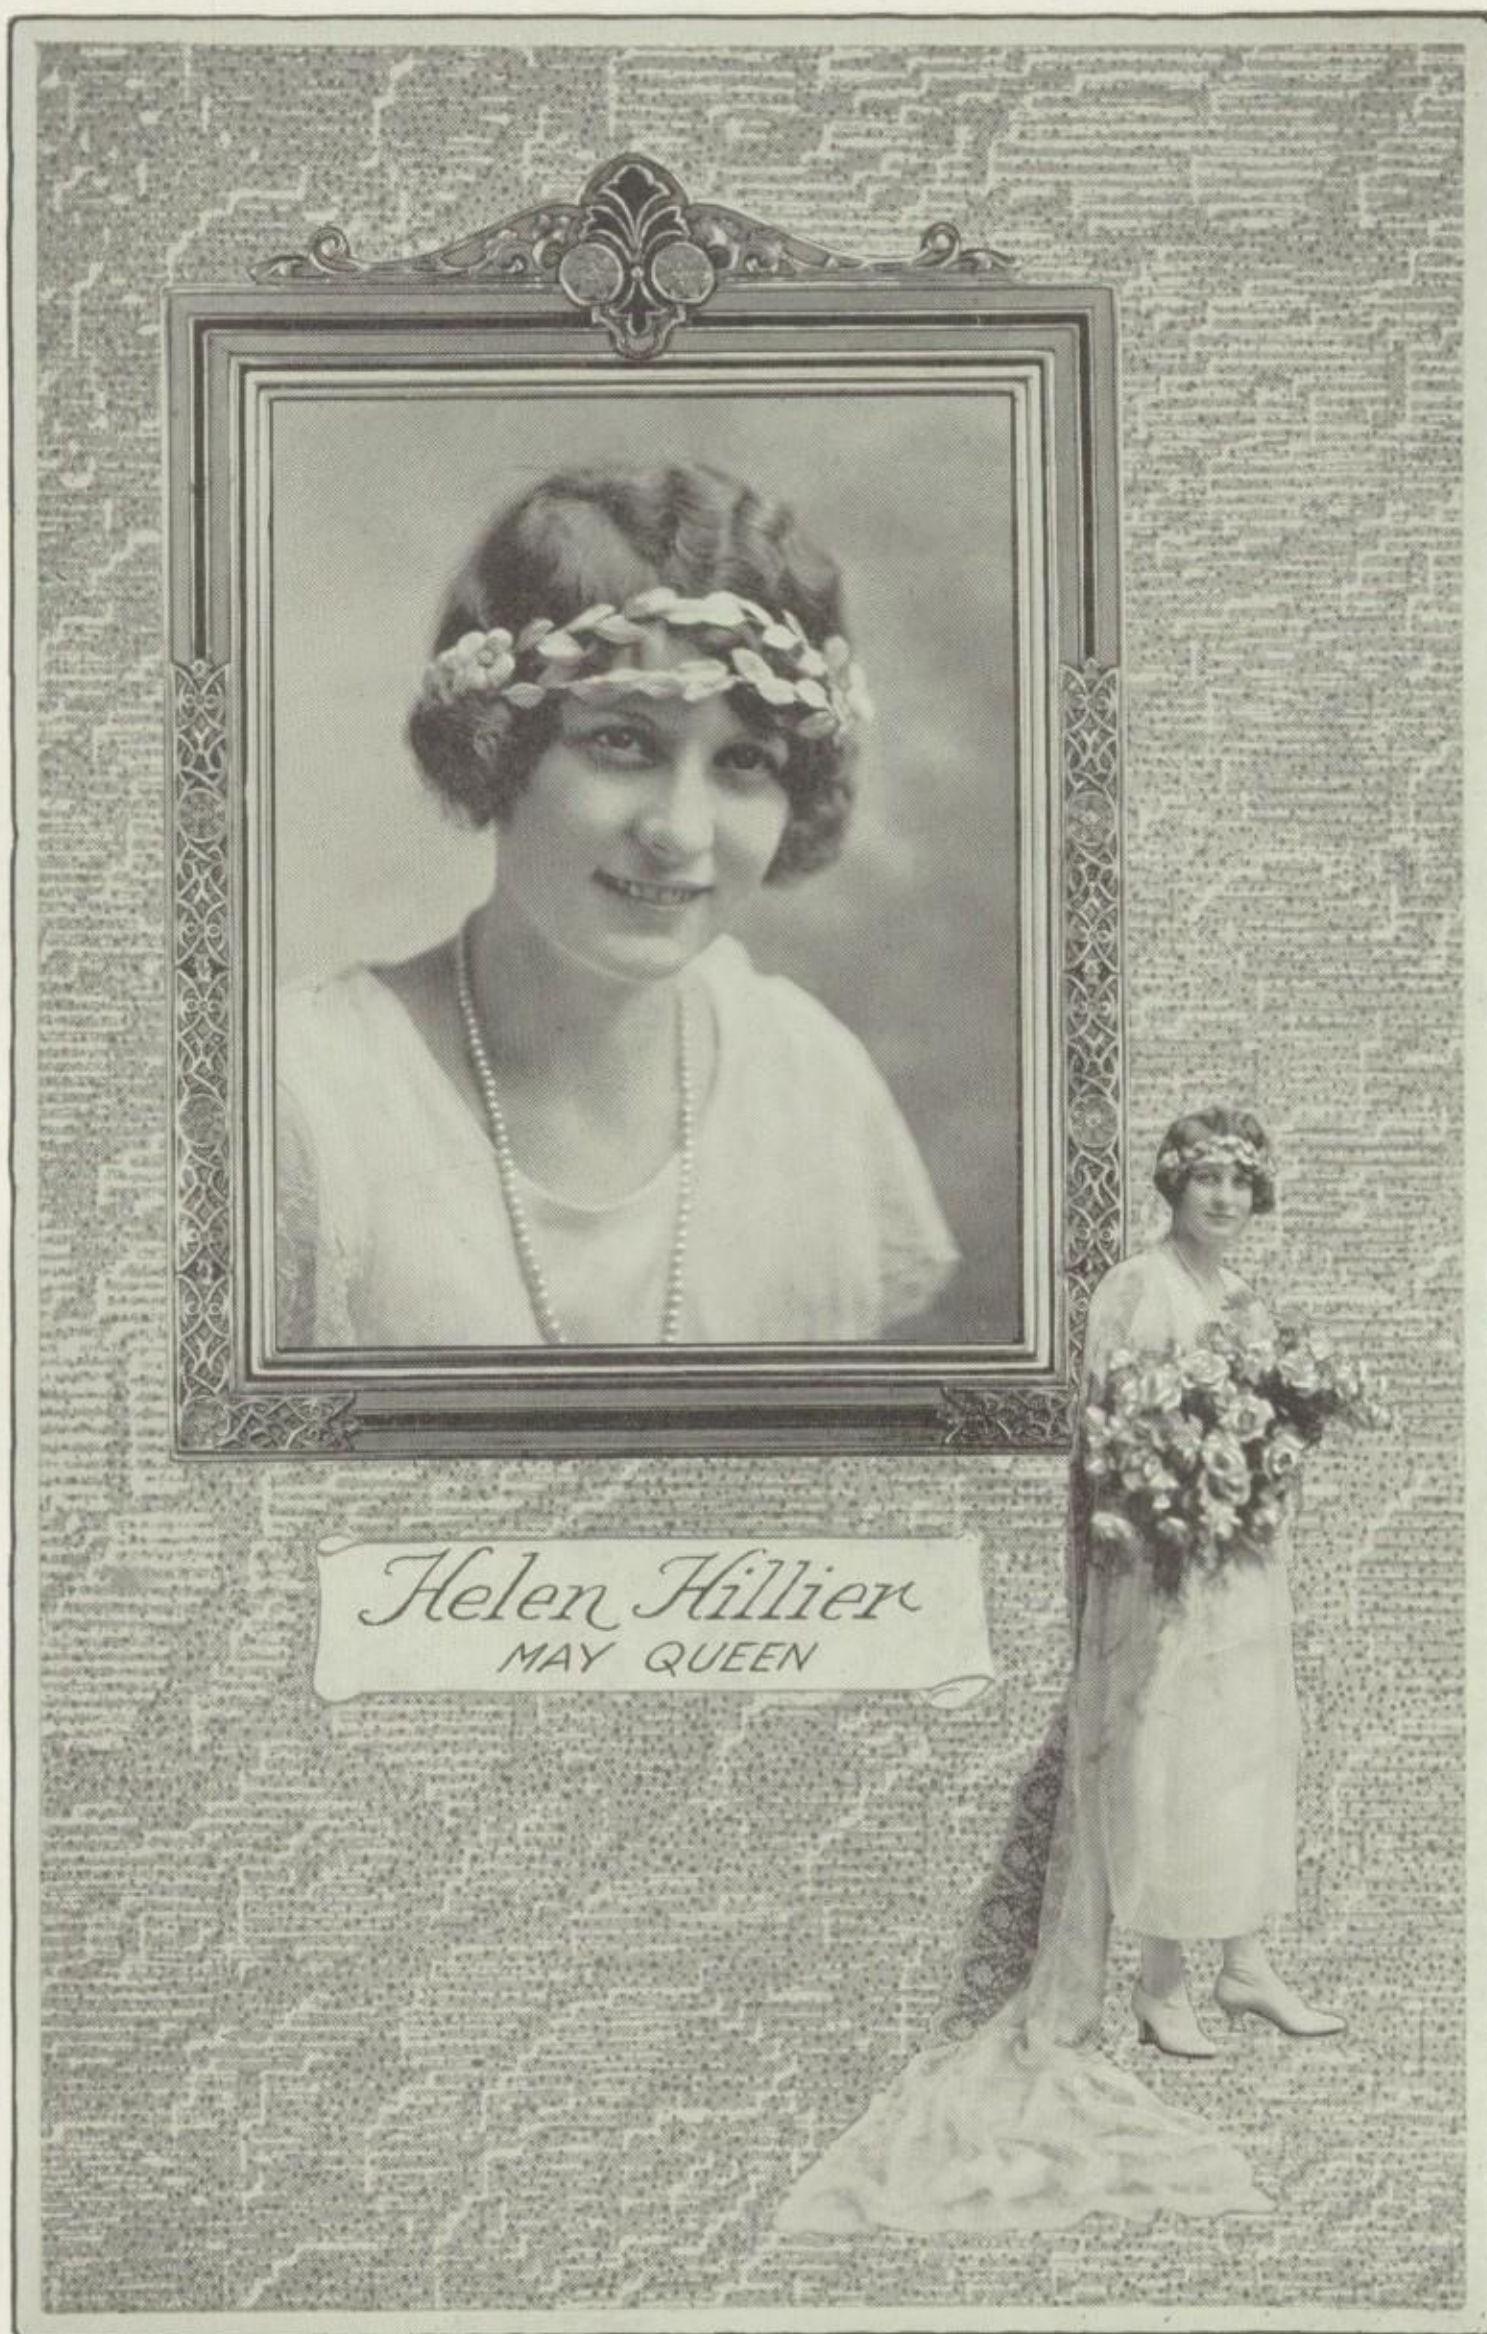

As to the May Queen, she must be the fairest of all the "maidens" in the village, school or college. On May Day she was crowned with flowers, as the "Queen of the May" and the girls and boys would sing and dance for her. The custom of having a Queen of the May, or May Queen, looks like a relic of the heathen celebration of the day. This flower-crowned girl appears as a living representative of the goddess Flora, whom the Romans worshiped on this day. But the May Queen does not join in the revelries of her subjects.

She was placed in a bower near the May-Pole, there to sit in pretty state, receiving the homage and admiration of the youthful revellers, who danced and sang around her.

So the May festival has come on down to the present day. Each year the school elects by vote, the May Queen. This election means to the girl chosen, that she is the most popular girl of the Senior Class.

This year, 1924, Helen Hillier has been chosen to be our May Queen and she comes up to every requirement of a Queen of the May; who must be beautiful and represent the stateliness of the Goddess of May, called Maia.

The May festival is a charming ceremony, as indeed it signifies the return of Spring itself.

AT the beginning of the year, the Delphics found that practically all the members were Seniors, so a campaign was begun to enlist underclassmen. The alumni Association co-operated in one of the biggest meetings of the year. Needless to say the Delphic ranks were soon filled, helping to make this year the most successful the Delphics have ever had.

The society achieved the greatest of success along lines of debate, drama, scholarship, and leadership. Three Delphics made varsity debate teams, four helped make the class play a success, four were in the "Cappy Ricks" cast, quite a number in Monsieur Beaucaire, and twenty-four percent of the society members of the Springfield Scholarship Society. The Delphics also took active part in the Inter-Society Vaudeville, and won second place in the Inter-Society Debate. The officers of President, Vice-President, and Secretary of the Senior Class were held by Delphics, also the Editor-in-chief of the Capitoline, and athletic letters were awarded to members of the society. Most all of these successes were due to the spirit of each Delphic backing his brother-member in every way possible; and the minority never kicked, but backed the majority.

The two semi-annual dances in the Housekeeping Suite made the year a success socially. A Halloween Dance, October 27th was one of the most beautiful dances given at the school during the year, but a dance given May 3rd easily equalled it, with splendid music and dainty novelties.

Perhaps the most interesting meeting of the year was an open meeting for the Delphics and their parents and friends, during which both the parents and members took part. The programs at the other meetings were of wide variety due to the ability of the Program Committees.

The Seventh Annual Stag Banquet, which exceeded all former ones with snappy and interesting talks and also music by the Delphic orchestra, brought the year to an effective and successful close.

IT is very seldom that a High School Society contains the majority of its members who are of the same age as the Society itself, such is the case with the Wranglers, and the members of the Society point with pride to the fact that the Wrangler Debating Society is the oldest existing High School Society in the United States. The objects of the Society are to promote debating and oratory, the promotion of good scholarship and good fellowship, and the promotion of all interests of the school. A literary program precedes each weekly business meeting at the High School on Monday night. The rigid requirements for membership into the society guarantee a strong personnel, capable of maintaining the ideals of the society.

Even though the society had only one member on the Varsity Debate team there has been material developed that is bound to make a strong showing next year.

The Wranglers have maintained their leadership in the school in numerous ways, having as members; the senators of both the Junior and the Freshman Class, President of the Junior Class, Junior and Senior Class Treasurers, Captain and two men on football team, two men on the basketball team, two members of the Capitoline Staff and a number of members including the manager of the track and baseball teams.

The Society played a prominent part in the Inter-Society Vaudeville, and also in plays given by High School players.

The Annual Wrangler Football Dance was a huge success, and the dance given in May was by far the best that the society has ever given.

The Society regretted the loss of Mr. Arnett as advisor, but were fortunate in getting Mr. Sanders, who ably supported and encouraged all that the Society has undertaken during the past year.

THE activities of the Les Bas Bleus during the year 1923-1924 have been the most enjoyable and successful of many years of pleasant and profitable activities. The program of the year has been the studying and presenting of plays of many types.

Two story hours were taken at the Lincoln Library by members of the Les Bas. Two initiations were held in which the new members suffered the horrors prescribed for admittance to this illustrious body.

The Vaudeville in which the five literary societies participated was unusually attractive this year and a financial success.

The Valentine's party of February 14, at which the girl's societies entertained the boys' societies, was a new feature as creditable as the other activities of the year.

The crowning success of the year was the Inter-Society Debate. The Delphics challenged all four societies to a debate on whether or not supervised study should be abolished in S. H. S. The Les Bas Bleus won 11 points out of 12, leading all the other societies by four or more points.

In the merry springtime, Les Bas invited its mothers to a party given in their honor. The last meeting of the year was the picnic at Washington Park where Les Bas chose its officers with whom it is expected it will carry on another happy and successful year.

THE Philos are want to dust up their superlatives in describing the year of 1924, both in word and social activity. The programs for the year, which have been composed of plays, tragic and comic, debates, humorous and serious, readings, music, and study of current topics, have been interesting and varied.

The year's activities outside of meetings started at the beginning of the first semester with a "full-of-pep" initiation of new members, which was duplicated the second semester. The Philo dance was a delightful Xmas present to the followers of Lerpsichore, and the Philo Frolic, an annual event which is anticipated by the entire school, proved successful beyond the greatest degree of expectation. Other fall and winter activities included the annual inter-society vaudeville, and the inter-society party, to which the Philos contributed their best co-operation and talent, the providing of a Christmas basket for a needy family, and the supervision of several story-telling hours at the Lincoln Library.

Every Philo, active or inactive, likes to remember the alumni banquet, at which all present Philos are given a chance to meet their predecessors, who look forward to this annual reunion. The society is proud of the interest which the girls' mothers take in its activities, and doubly enjoys the parties given by the mothers and for the mothers.

The Philos set for their goal this year a picture to be presented to the High School Art Gallery, and all proceeds from the frolic and dance were set aside for this purpose. However, upon realizing the desirability of a mural for the auditorium the society decided not to present a single picture, but to take the initiative in establishing a fund for this mural.

The year closed with a party for the graduating seniors at which these members were given a last farewell. If omens and prophecies are true a great many super-successful years are ahead for the Philos.

DURING the month of September we gathered our spoils, Thaliens-to-be, for the fateful night of October 11. The memorable event, which displayed both the ignorance and intelligence of the chosen few, was staged at the home of Corrine Burch.

The inter-society vaudeville gave the first opportunity of the year '23-'24 for both old and new members to display their talents as actresses.

The first day of Christmas vacation was spent by the Thaliens in playing the part of Mrs. Santa Claus to a poor family.

After semester examinations were over the Thaliens together with the other two girls' societies were hostesses to the boys' societies at a Valentine Party.

Again the time came for hair-ribbons and necklaces and the six new girls revelled in their second childhood.

Next came the challenge from the Delphics and our name was entered in the schedule for the inter-society debate.

As springtime came and the seniors would soon be alumnae, who smiled gently at the activities of the high school children, they were royally entertained at a party.

On the 17th of May the housekeeping suite was transformed into a garden and the Thaliens entertained at a dance. Although this was the first dance given by them it was marked with crowning success. Thus the activities for '23-'24 were closed.

The meetings were held regularly during the year. The programs were varied, interesting and educational. A number of plays were presented in an original manner. The sophomores had stunts at one meeting and the seniors also entertained with stunts May 8. The Mother's Party, an annual affair, was a memorable meeting.

The aim of the society is to give to the girls a better knowledge of the good literature of today and in so doing raise the standards.

THE Unity Club was organized by Miss Lula Wright in 1918. The club meets every Tuesday morning during the session periods. The meetings consist of literary and musical programs.

The club made scrap books and purchased stockings for the little tots at Lincoln's Colored Home at Christmas time.

Among the social events given by the Club was a Hallowe'en party and a Matinee Dance, which was very successful.

The Society ended its year with a party in honor of the graduates. The members are striving hard to make the Club a success.

We owe much to Mrs. Robie for the interest she has shown in it.

THE Swastika Club which was organized in October 1921 is an outgrowth of the Girls Hi Yi and Girl Reserve Clubs. Since the adoption of a new set of rules in September 1923 the club has become one of the major organizations of the school.

Social affairs were quite frequent. All weiner roasts, hikes, Hallowe'en parties, taffy pulls, and St. Patrick parties were well attended. The service work, however, was not neglected. Thanksgiving the club filled baskets with food and gave them to poor families. Christmas day a Big Sister Party was given for the Children at St. Johns Sanitarium.

The Girl Reserve Ring is the highest honor which may be awarded to any Girl Reserve. It stands for the finest ideals of the Girl Reserve and should mean real achievement on the part of the girl who wins it.

Radio Club.

THIS club was organized in October 1921, it consisted of a few amateur operators and a few broadcast listeners who got together for their mutual benefit in the general discussion of technical points in Radio science. This last semester the club has broadened out in scope to include broadcast listeners, and now has a membership of fifty-five.

This club has always been a live-wire club in its systematic efforts to do something worth while and interesting within the ability of its members. Our club has the national distinction of being the first high school radio club to publish a technical club paper. It has published a radio map also and has copyrighted both.

This club has gained a national distinction in being the first high school radio club in the United States to undertake and conduct successful experiments with Radio in under-ground communication, details of which have been published in several Radio magazines and mining journals.

One of the clubs latest achievements on April 27 was a successful attempt to use the voice in vertical communication by ground conduction between the surface and the mine interior 250 feet below the surface.

This work in Radio experiments has resulted in this club being officially recognized by that Bureau of Mines as an experimental agency in helping to gather experimental data which will without doubt aid in the successful solution of under-ground communication problems for the aid of entombed miners in mine-rescue work.

This club acknowledges with grateful appreciation the splendid co-operation it has received from the following organizations and individuals: Frederick C. Holtz, chief electrical engineer, Sangamo Electric Company, for technical advice; The U. S. Bureau of Mines, for whom these experiments are being conducted for certain apparatus and helpful suggestions; the State Bureau of Mines and Minerals and the State Executive Department, for their helpful encouragement and support; the Peabody Coal Company officials including Mr. Peabody, himself, and practically all of his local officials of the Woodside and East Capital Mines; and Mr. John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America through whose thoughtful encouragement and personal suggestions the attention of the U. S. Bureau of Mines was attracted through the efforts of this Radio Club to accomplish something worth while in research and experimental efforts within their ability in connection with the big problem of practical underground communication.

AS an out growth of the "Dad" Elliot meetings held in the Springfield High School in April, 1923, twenty-seven girls organized a Bible Study Club with Miss Lena C. Bruner as advisor.

The club was soon placed on the same basis as all the other clubs of the school. At an early meeting, Ruth Hazel Smith was elected president, and Grace Herndon secretary. A little later the name "Beta" was chosen, suggesting the motto:

We, as members of the Beta Sisterhood, purpose—

- To improve our daily Behavior
- To seek spiritual Enlightenment
- To perform worthy Tasks
- To develop Christian Acquaintanceship

The rest of that semester was spent in studying the Gospel of Luke.

At the beginning of this school year, the club took up the study of the Gospel of Mark. In addition to studying carefully the various events in the Life of Christ during the Galilean Ministry, we discussed a number of topics bearing on present day problems. Among these were the following:

- What to do on Sunday.
- What ambitions to encourage.
- The meaning of Loyalty.
- The right kind of Worship.
- The value of Prayer.
- Elements in true Friendship.
- The chief duty of a Christian.
- Faith as a prerequisite for Service.

Since all of us had been scattered throughout the summer, we decided to have a reunion. This was held on September 14. Seven new members were taken into the club on October 23, with an initiation service and wiener roast in the field-house at Washington Park. On Saturday, November 10, the girls hiked out to the river and spent a very enjoyable time. On December 21, a Christmas Party was held. Each girl brought a guest. Delightful talks were given by Mrs. Hildebrant and Mrs. Robie.

Wishing to enlarge our club, we chose sides for a new member contest. As a result, twenty girls were added to our ranks at the beginning of the second semester. On January 18, the club visited the King's Daughters' Home and gave a program of music and reading which was very much enjoyed by all. Being in need of money, a candy sale was held at the school April 3, which proved a great success. A banquet was held in honor of Mother's Day on May 9, which was well attended and greatly enjoyed. On May 20, the election of officers for next year was held, and the club was entertained by an original play directed by Dorothy Duey and Margaret Martin. The closing event of the year was the picnic the first week in June.

Throughout the year the programs have been very interesting and the meetings well attended. The Beta Club has grown stronger in every way, and we hope that in the near future our club will become an important factor in the outside activities of our school.

The Cafeteria.

It is very necessary for the head of that "home" to know the different food values and the combinations that work well together. As there are all kinds of student tastes, a staff of eleven regular women workers prepare, cook and display a variety of meats, vegetables, fruits, salads, custards, sandwiches, puddings and pastries on the counter. The patrons consist of students with every variety of fanciful appetites. They want one thing today and something else tomorrow. The Cafeteria serves a wholesome noonday lunch served under proper conditions, which helps build up their bodies and gives them a foundation for mental work.

The Cafeteria.

The kitchen, our working laboratory, is always open for inspection. Often there are interested visitors who like to see the place where the food is prepared. The electric machines; potato peeler, dishwashing machine and the mixing machines aid in letting the Cafeteria put out the best foods.

About forty boys assist in serving during the two lunch periods. Boys have an opportunity to be courteous to their fellow students, learn salesmanship, and get a glimpse of business principles.

During the year 184 dinners are served. Besides catering to the girls and the boys societies, the function of the Cafeteria has extended to outside groups that are represented by teachers' associations, men's clubs, patrons' Night, etc.

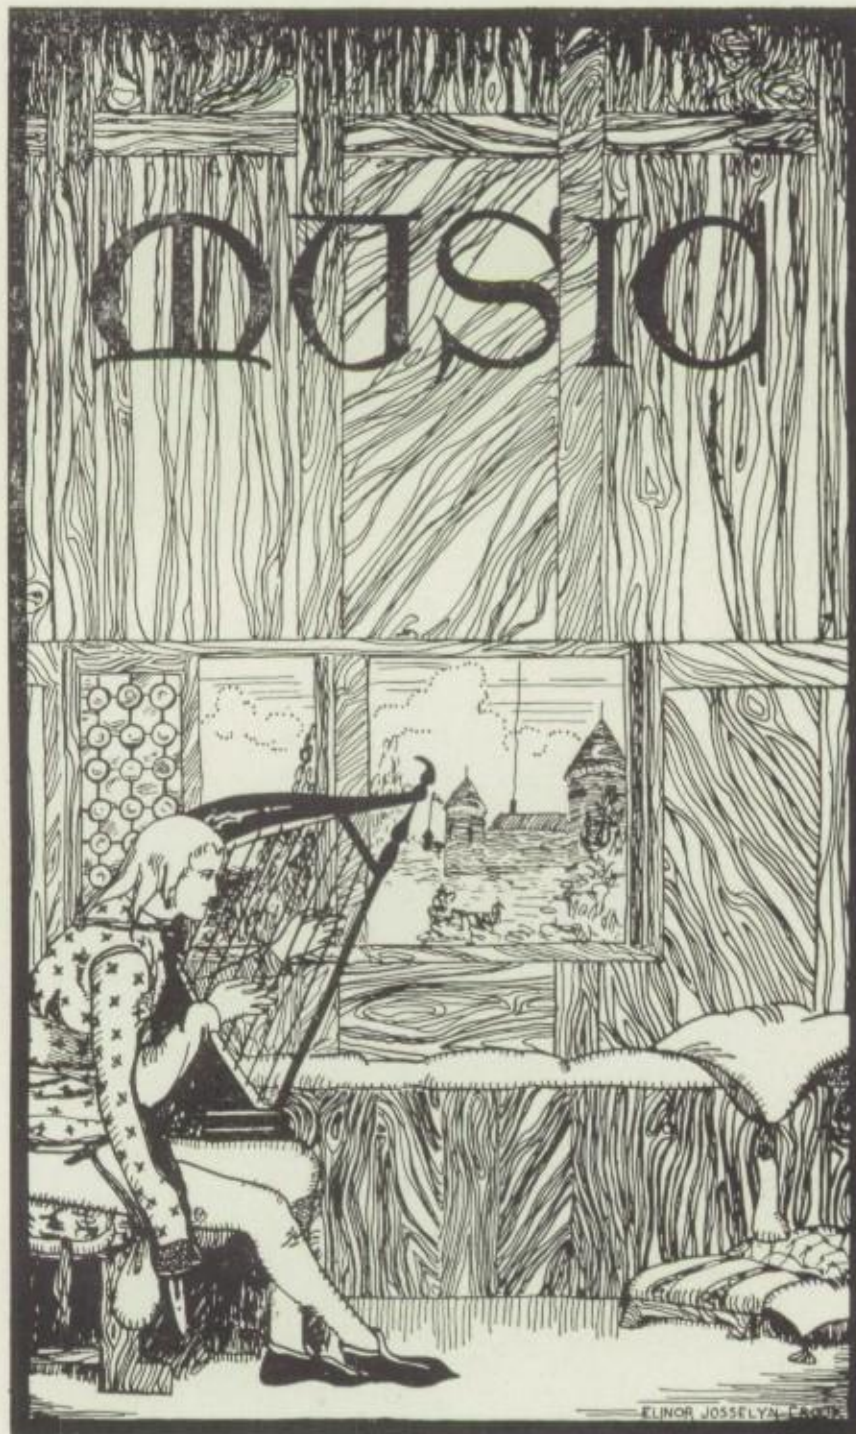

BERTHA BAKER, B.S.

To have your efforts rewarded by instituted appreciation is the surest and best way to give you renewed courage for the future.

Six and one-half years ago the High School Cafeteria was opened for the accommodation of the High School pupils. The Cafeteria was a success from the beginning. The last year has been by far the most successful. The best in food and service was given and the appreciation bestowed upon us is hereby thankfully acknowledged.

BERTHA BAKER, Mgr.

Miss Berghoffer.

Miss Berghoffer became a member of our faculty in September, 1923. Under her leadership the Glee Clubs, Orchestra and Male Quartette have flourished. As a result of her efforts, the operetta "Miss Cherry Blossom" was presented by the boys and girls' glee clubs. Later in the year the cantata "The Rose Maiden" by Frederic H. Cowen was given, sharing equal honors.

Miss Mueller.

During the past year much has been done by Miss Mueller and her classes to promote music appreciation in the High School.

Nothing previous has ever been given by the lower classmen deserving more praise than the Shakespearean Pageant.

Mr. Patrick.

In one year, Mr. Patrick has given our band a good start on the road to success and has made it an organization of which the High School is very proud. The band started without funds. Mr. Patrick not only enlisted the aid of many business men and organizations but also helped finance the project himself.

Springfield High School Band.

Our long-desired band was organized last October with eight members. After two weeks of practice we made our first public appearance at a general assembly on October 16, 1923. This was a rather weak effort, but was worth while in that it gave us some idea of the room that we had for improvement.

Since then we have grown to a band of thirty-eight pieces and have made many public appearances.

Shortly after our organization the Rotary Club very generously gave us all the large instruments at a cost of $1,200.

On February 23 we gave a concert which paid for our uniforms.

To Mr. Patrick, our conductor, whose musical talent, organizing ability and hard work has made the band what it is today, we are deeply indebted.

The Boys Glee Club.

The Boys' Glee Club is composed of twenty-six students chosen from the best material in the school.

The Glee Club has appeared several times before the Student Body, giving very interesting performances. The greatest musical program of the year was given March 20, in the High School Auditorium. The Operetta presented was "Miss Cherry Blossom" by May Hewes Dodge and John Wilson Dodge. The auditorium was packed, and the performance was considered by many the best ever staged in S. H. S. by high school students. The wonderful success was due to the combined efforts of both the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs.

Another outstanding performance was the Cantata "The Rose Maiden" by Frederic H. Cowen, given in the High School Auditorium by both Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, May 23rd.

Connected with the glee club is the male quartet. The quartet composed of Walter Binney, Norman Billington, Russel Kuhns and John Gibson has appeared on various occasions, both in and outside of school and is an organization of which not only the glee club but the school is very proud.

The Girls' Glee Club.

In 1924 a change was made in the Glee Clubs. The boys and girls were separated into two clubs. Some thought this would hamper much co-operation between them, but not at all.

Especially was this noticeable when the night of the Operetta came around. The performance was like a perfectly learned composition. First one hand alone, then the other—and finally the combination of the two—which makes any composition the more perfect; and the girls formed many of the best parts.

Never has there been a chorus of girls in S. H. S. that has learned their parts so well. They seemingly "picked up" the many lovely choruses of the Operetta. Yes, they are a "snappy" bunch of girls, while at the same time they have the voices with which to make a Girls' Glee Club successful.

THE Springfield Scholarship Society was organized in 1919 with the purpose of giving recognition to those students who attain a high scholastic standing. This recognition makes the honor of having a high scholastic average just as great as that received in athletics or any other school activity, and just as worth while working for. Membership in this Society is open to every graduating student who fulfills the following requirements:

The pupil must have carried his work through his entire high school course with a general average of 85.

He shall have carried at least one major subject with an average of 90 or above.

He shall have participated in some school activity outside the classroom.

After the student has proved his eligibility to membership in the society by fulfilling the above qualifications he receives the following recognitions in a special assembly convened for that purpose:

A bronze seal is placed upon his diploma with a ribbon indicating the particular department in which he has attained high honors.

He is given a certificate from the department in which he has attained high honors, signed by the instructors with whom he had work in that department.

He is given a bronze medal as a permanent recognition of the high esteem the school places upon his achievement.

In the Senior Class of 1924, the following students completed all requirements and have been elected to the Springfield Scholarship Society:

BAIRD

Coach William Baird.

Mr. Baird has now been with us four years and his growing popularity is a witness to his ability as a coach and to his forceful personality. Mr. Baird has built up basketball, football and track teams which have been the fear of rival teams and, which have put Springfield High School on the map as one of the leading schools of Illinois. A personal interest in the boys coupled with a knowledge gained from wide experience in dealing with them has made Mr. Baird a coach in which S. H. S. takes pardonable pride.

Mr. R. A. Deffenbaugh.

As head of the Athletic Board of Control, Mr. Deffenbaugh has made athletics a financial success during the year 1923-24. This has been due largely to the way in which he has enlisted the co-operation of the student members of the Board and to Mr. Deffenbaugh's own business sagacity.

Mr. Deffenbaugh is well versed in all phases of athletics as he was a coach before he came to Springfield in 1922. Since he has been here he has proved valuable not only as an instructor but a business manager in his ability to put athletics on a good financial basis.

Coach Roellig.

Coach Roellig's work is principally with the baseball and track teams which he has developed into very creditable machines this year. Although these sports do not arouse the enthusiasm among the student body which basketball and football do, Mr. Roellig has worked faithfully with the teams and has shown himself a true sportsman.

He is himself a good athlete and knows how to work up a good baseball team as well as to bring out the individual as is necessary in track.

The purpose of the Athletic Board of Control is to stimulate and maintain interest in athletics. How well this has been done one has but to review the past season as to games attendance and the financial success of Athletics. However the Board of Control recognizes the fact that they alone are not responsible for the season's success. Credit for a successful season is due largely to coaches, the loyal student body and the patrons of athletic contests.

The 1923 Football Season.

The call for football candidates was issued on the first day of school. As usual a large number of huskies reported for practice. There were, however, but seven men who had ever played in a varsity game of football. Using these seven men as a nucleus, Coach Baird developed a team which was the pride of our school.

The Red and Black displayed its wares for the first time, October 6, before a large crowd of enthusiasts. On this date Girard invaded Springfield and fell before our team, to the tune of 18-0.

One week later Danville attempted to spill Springfield's cup of glory on a field of mud. This game was hotly contested and featured by many breaks, most of which were taken advantage of by Danville. The only touchdown of the game came in the first of the fourth quarter when Springfield crossed Danville's line which then followed by kicking goal. The game ended 7-0.

With two wins to her credit Springfield battled Carlinville on October 20th. Our team failed to measure up and fell a 13-0 loser to Carlinville.

Chagrined by defeat at the hands of Carlinville, Springfield put in two weeks of hard practice preparing for Urbana. The team showed its metal by forcing Urbana to return home with the short end of a 19-0 score. Her second defeat at the hands of Springfield in thirteen years.

The Capitoline

Eight days later Springfield journeyed to Jacksonville and added to her laurels by the unusual feat of taming Jacksonville on her own field. When the dust had settled and Springfield had withdrawn her head from the lion's mouth and counted her scalps, the rooters were elated to find her the victor by a 16-3 score.

On November 17th an entertainment was held on the local gridiron, which to all appearances was a track meet. The game was well run by the Springfield eleven, causing the Clintonites to trail in a loser by 58 points. The score was 58-0.

Turkey day saw S. H. S. in action against the Decatur athletes on Milikin's "Slough of Despair." The game, which was played in mud, was an exciting one from the spectators point of view. The game ended in one of those unsatisfactory 0-0 ties.

PROSPECTS FOR 1924.

After the Decatur game Springfield had but three regulars left for the 1924 season and lost the services of eight regulars and three valuable utility men. The men remaining are, Scott, Captain elect, who is a promising tackle, Tomlinson, who has played two years in the center position, Schnepf, who should be an all state man next year, and Gelwicks a Sophomore guard.

Those who graduate from the line are: Thompson, awarded All-state honors, Poscover, whose going will leave a gap in the line hard to fill, Capt. Curran, All-state man for the last two years, Tate the spirit of the team and also awarded All-state honors, Richey who, in the estimation of Coach Baird is the best end he ever handled and Kerr an excellent utility lineman.

THE 1923 FOOTBALL SEASON.

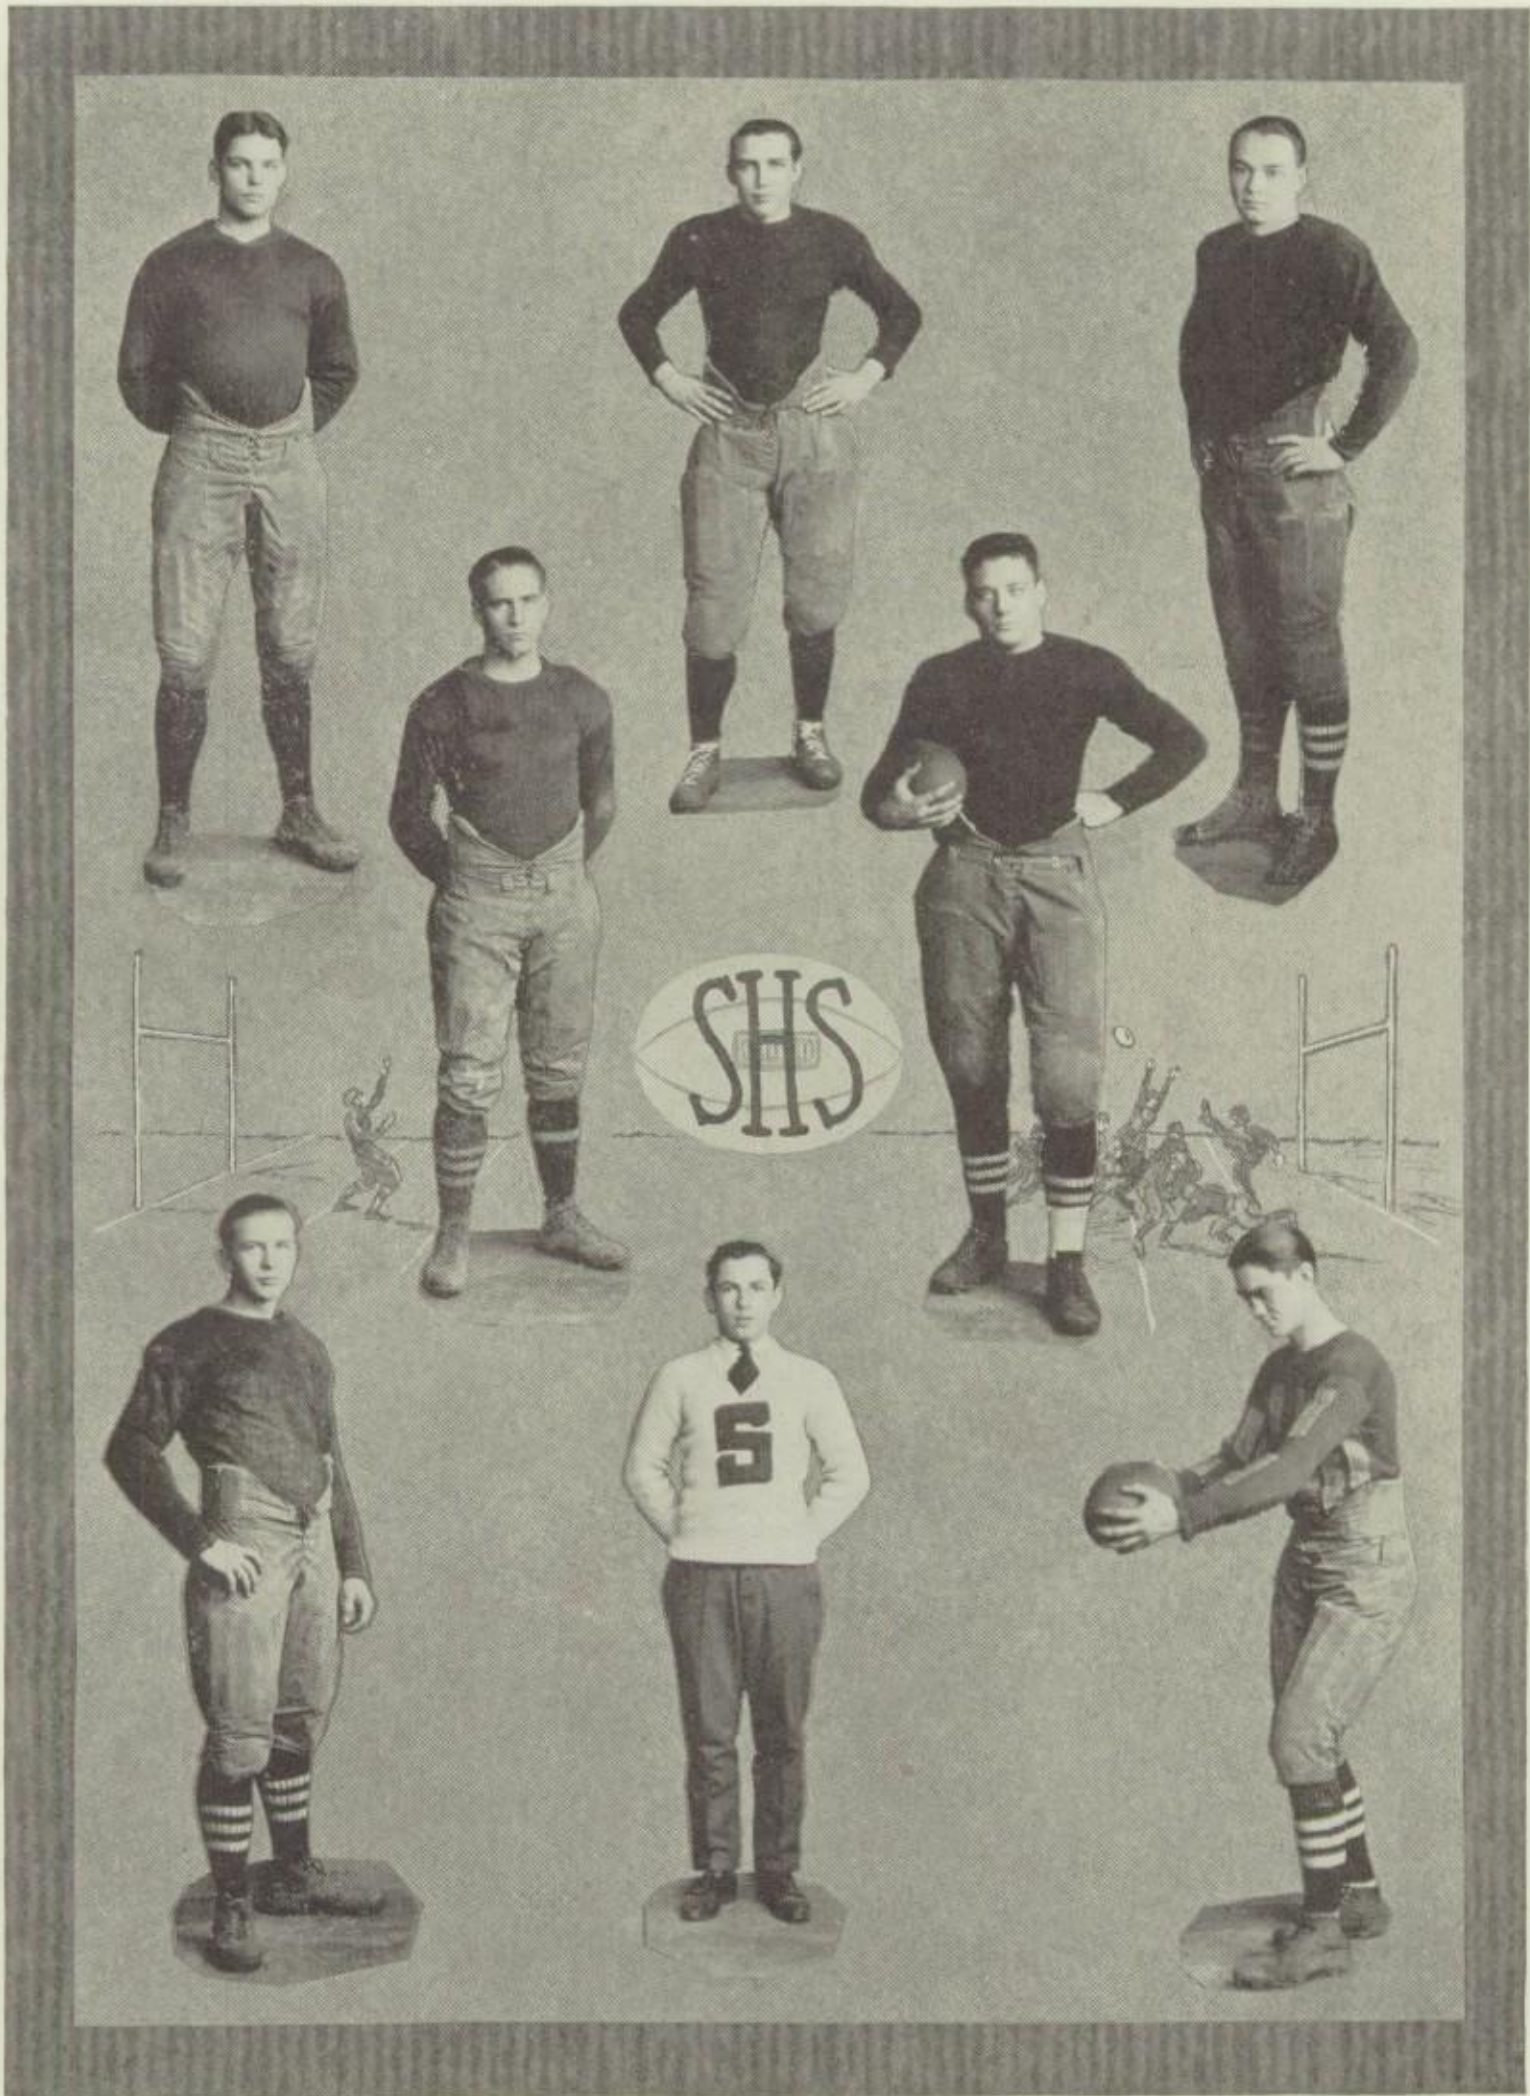

The backfield looses: Carnes, whose ram-like battering won for him All-state honors, Coe, who had a knack of hitting the line in such a manner as to assure gain, Youngblood, the fastest man seen in Springfield football togs in many years, Thomas, whose record as quarter-back, can easily be seen by looking at the victories of the team, Conway's Irish-fighting spirit put him at the head of many larger than he and Becker utility man.

The team this year was, in all probability, the best one produced in Springfield in many years.

The success of the team in the past year cannot be passed up without mention of the "scrubs," who, through their loyalty and hard work, forced the varsity members to their utmost and will form the regular team of next year.

The season was a success not only from the standpoint of games won, but also from the financial standpoint which is a great item in furthering high school athletics.

Basketball.

An interim of but a few weeks lapsed between the passing of football from the stage until basketball jumped into the limelight.

About 80 candidates reported for practice but because of their diminutive size, they were soon forced to quit. The hope of the fans were built upon Schnepf, forward and captain; Blandin, guard, and Greenup, forward, previous letter winners in this sport. From the ranks were chosen Myers who was awarded the pivot position, and Thompson to cover the standing guard position.

Springfield won over Auburn in the first game of the season with little difficulty. The Athens five, however, proved a little too stiff for the inexperienced Springfield fellows who fell before them in a fast and furious game one week later.

A trip to Jacksonville January 4 was made in order to subdue the Morganites. Success met the efforts of the Springfield five and the jubilant Springfield rooters returned in the face of 15 below zero weather.

The Capitoline

The second trip of the season netted the Bairdmen another scalp when they met Clinton. Open house for Urbana was held Urbana 8. The victory earned by the Springfield loop and ball players in this tight game proved their mettle beyond a doubt.

"Revenge" was the battle cry one week later on a trip to Athens. In a hard fought battle the Porter protegies drenched our hopes and left revenge still to be looked forward to.

Springfield, still keyed up, met the Decatur gang on her home floor and smothered her under a deluge of short shots.

The first day of February closed for our basketeers with a clean slate when Jacksonville was defeated on our floor. February 8 Clinton sallied forth to avenge the defeat handed them a month before but were forced to return with the short end of a very unequal score.

Just exactly one hundred and sixty-eight hours later a badly crippled team journeyed to Urbana to carry the standard of the Springfield hopes. Coach Baird sojourned at home sick in bed and the team was without the services of Greenup, who was serving the state at Herrin. Urbana copped the contest by a score so close as to give no room for crowing.

Decatur took revenge on the crippled Springfield five when Springfield invaded that town one week later. The last game of the season was played with Bloomington who were defeated in one of the fastest games of the year.

District Tournament.

The District Tournament, which was held the first week in March, proved to be of more than usual interest, because of the class of basketball displayed by the contesting teams.

Athens, winner of first place, defeated Springfield the first game that S. H. S. played. However, the wearers of the Red and Black were consoled after they learned that Athens won second place at the State Meet at Urbana.

Baseball.

This year's baseball team was the strongest that has ever worn the colors of the Red and Black. At the beginning of the season Faculty Manager Deffenbaugh furnished the fellows new equipment and Coach Roellig was instrumental in having the diamond vastly improved.

The team started its schedule on April 19 at Illiopolis where, in spite of wind and rain, they won a 16-2 victory. East St. Louis was to have opened the local schedule but rain interfered. The next game was with Illiopolis here. Springfield won 22-2. Virden, our next opponent, was much stronger than was expected and held us to a 5-3 victory. Roellig's warriors then entertained the Illinois School for the Deaf and sent them home on the short end of an 8-2 score. The next week a return game was played at Jacksonville. Weissing started in the box for the first time and came through with a 9-2 win. The feature game of the season was played against East St. Louis here on May 27. The score was 7-0 in favor of Springfield.

The team played peppy and strategic ball all year. Coach Roellig knew what to tell his men to do and how to tell them to do it. The fellows were very adept at sacrificing, stealing bases, and hitting in pinches. Galasse and Weissing made an excellent two-man twirling staff.

The players who broke into varsity games were: Captain Fred Meyers, shortstop; Frank Galasse, pitcher; Bill Weissing, pitcher; Leslie DeCamara, catcher; Albert Bitchenauer, first base; Edward Walters, second base; Joe Gillespie, third base; Andrew Nelson, left field; Edward England, center field; Charlie Greenup, first base and outfield; Griffith Wirth, right field; Martin Schultz, infield; and Student Manager Arnold Tomlinson, catcher.

Track 1924.

When the call was issued for Varsity track aspirants, only six letter men from last year's squad were available. At the end of the season, however, the ranks had been increased to include fifteen men, eligible to wear the coveted "S."

The 1924 team, with practically no outstanding men, was a success.

A look-in on some of the records made by the men will give an idea of the work done.

50-yard dash—Youngblood (Millikin Meet), 5 and $\frac{3}{5}$ seconds.

100-yard dash—Youngblood (Millikin Meet), 10 and $\frac{1}{5}$ seconds (tying Millikin record).

220-yard dash—Carnes (State Meet), 23 and $\frac{2}{5}$ seconds.

440-yard dash—Murphy (State Meet), 54 and $\frac{4}{5}$ seconds.

880-yard run—Conway (State Meet), 2 minutes, 8 and $\frac{1}{5}$ seconds.

Mile run—Trede (Decatur Dual Meet), 4 minutes, 58 and $\frac{4}{5}$ seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Jackson (Millikin Meet), 17 and $\frac{3}{5}$ seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Jackson (Millikin Meet), 28 seconds.

High Jump—Woodson (Decatur Dual Meet), 5 feet 8 inches.

Broad Jump—Barbee (Decatur Dual Meet), 21 feet 3 and $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Javelin—Bretscher (Decatur Dual Meet), 133 feet 1 inch.

Discus—Tomlinson (Millikin Meet), 103 feet, 9 inches.

Shotput—Youngblood (Decatur Dual Meet), 38 feet 9 inches.

Half Mile Relay—Carnes, Ryan, C. Schnepf, Youngblood (State Meet), 1 minute, 36 and $\frac{1}{5}$ seconds.

Pole Vault—Barbee (Millikin Meet), 10 feet 7 inches.

DECATUR DUAL MEET.

On May 3rd, the Red and Black made its initial appearance and trounced Decatur by an overwhelming score of 98 to 28.

Fourteen men won enough points to entitle them to wear the Varsity numeral. They were Capt. Carnes, Youngblood, Ryan, C. Schnepf, Jackson, Barbee, Bretscher, Armbruster, Woodson, Murphy, Conway, Dickerson, D. Schnepf and Trede.

Youngblood in the sprints, Carnes in the sprints and broad jump, and Jackson in the hurdles and high jump were the high scorers. The half-mile relay team, composed of Carnes, C. Schnepf, Ryan and Youngblood, won easily, but with a fast mark. This was the fifth consecutive time that the Red and Black had met victory in this event in a dual meet.

MILLIKIN MEET.

In spite of a poor start and repeated misfortune, the Bairdmen placed third in the Millikin Interscholastic Track and Field Meet on May 10th, following Champaign and Carlinville who placed first and second respectively. Carnes, Youngblood and Jackson counted for the majority of the points. Barbee was forced to the limit to take a tie for first in the pole vault and was unable to show up to form in the broad jump, although he placed third.

Tomlinson, who placed third in the discus, increased the number of letter winners to fifteen.

STATE MEET.

Eighth place in Class A from a field of some fifty teams was the achievement reached by the Springfield boys at the State Meet. Six men won medals in this classic.

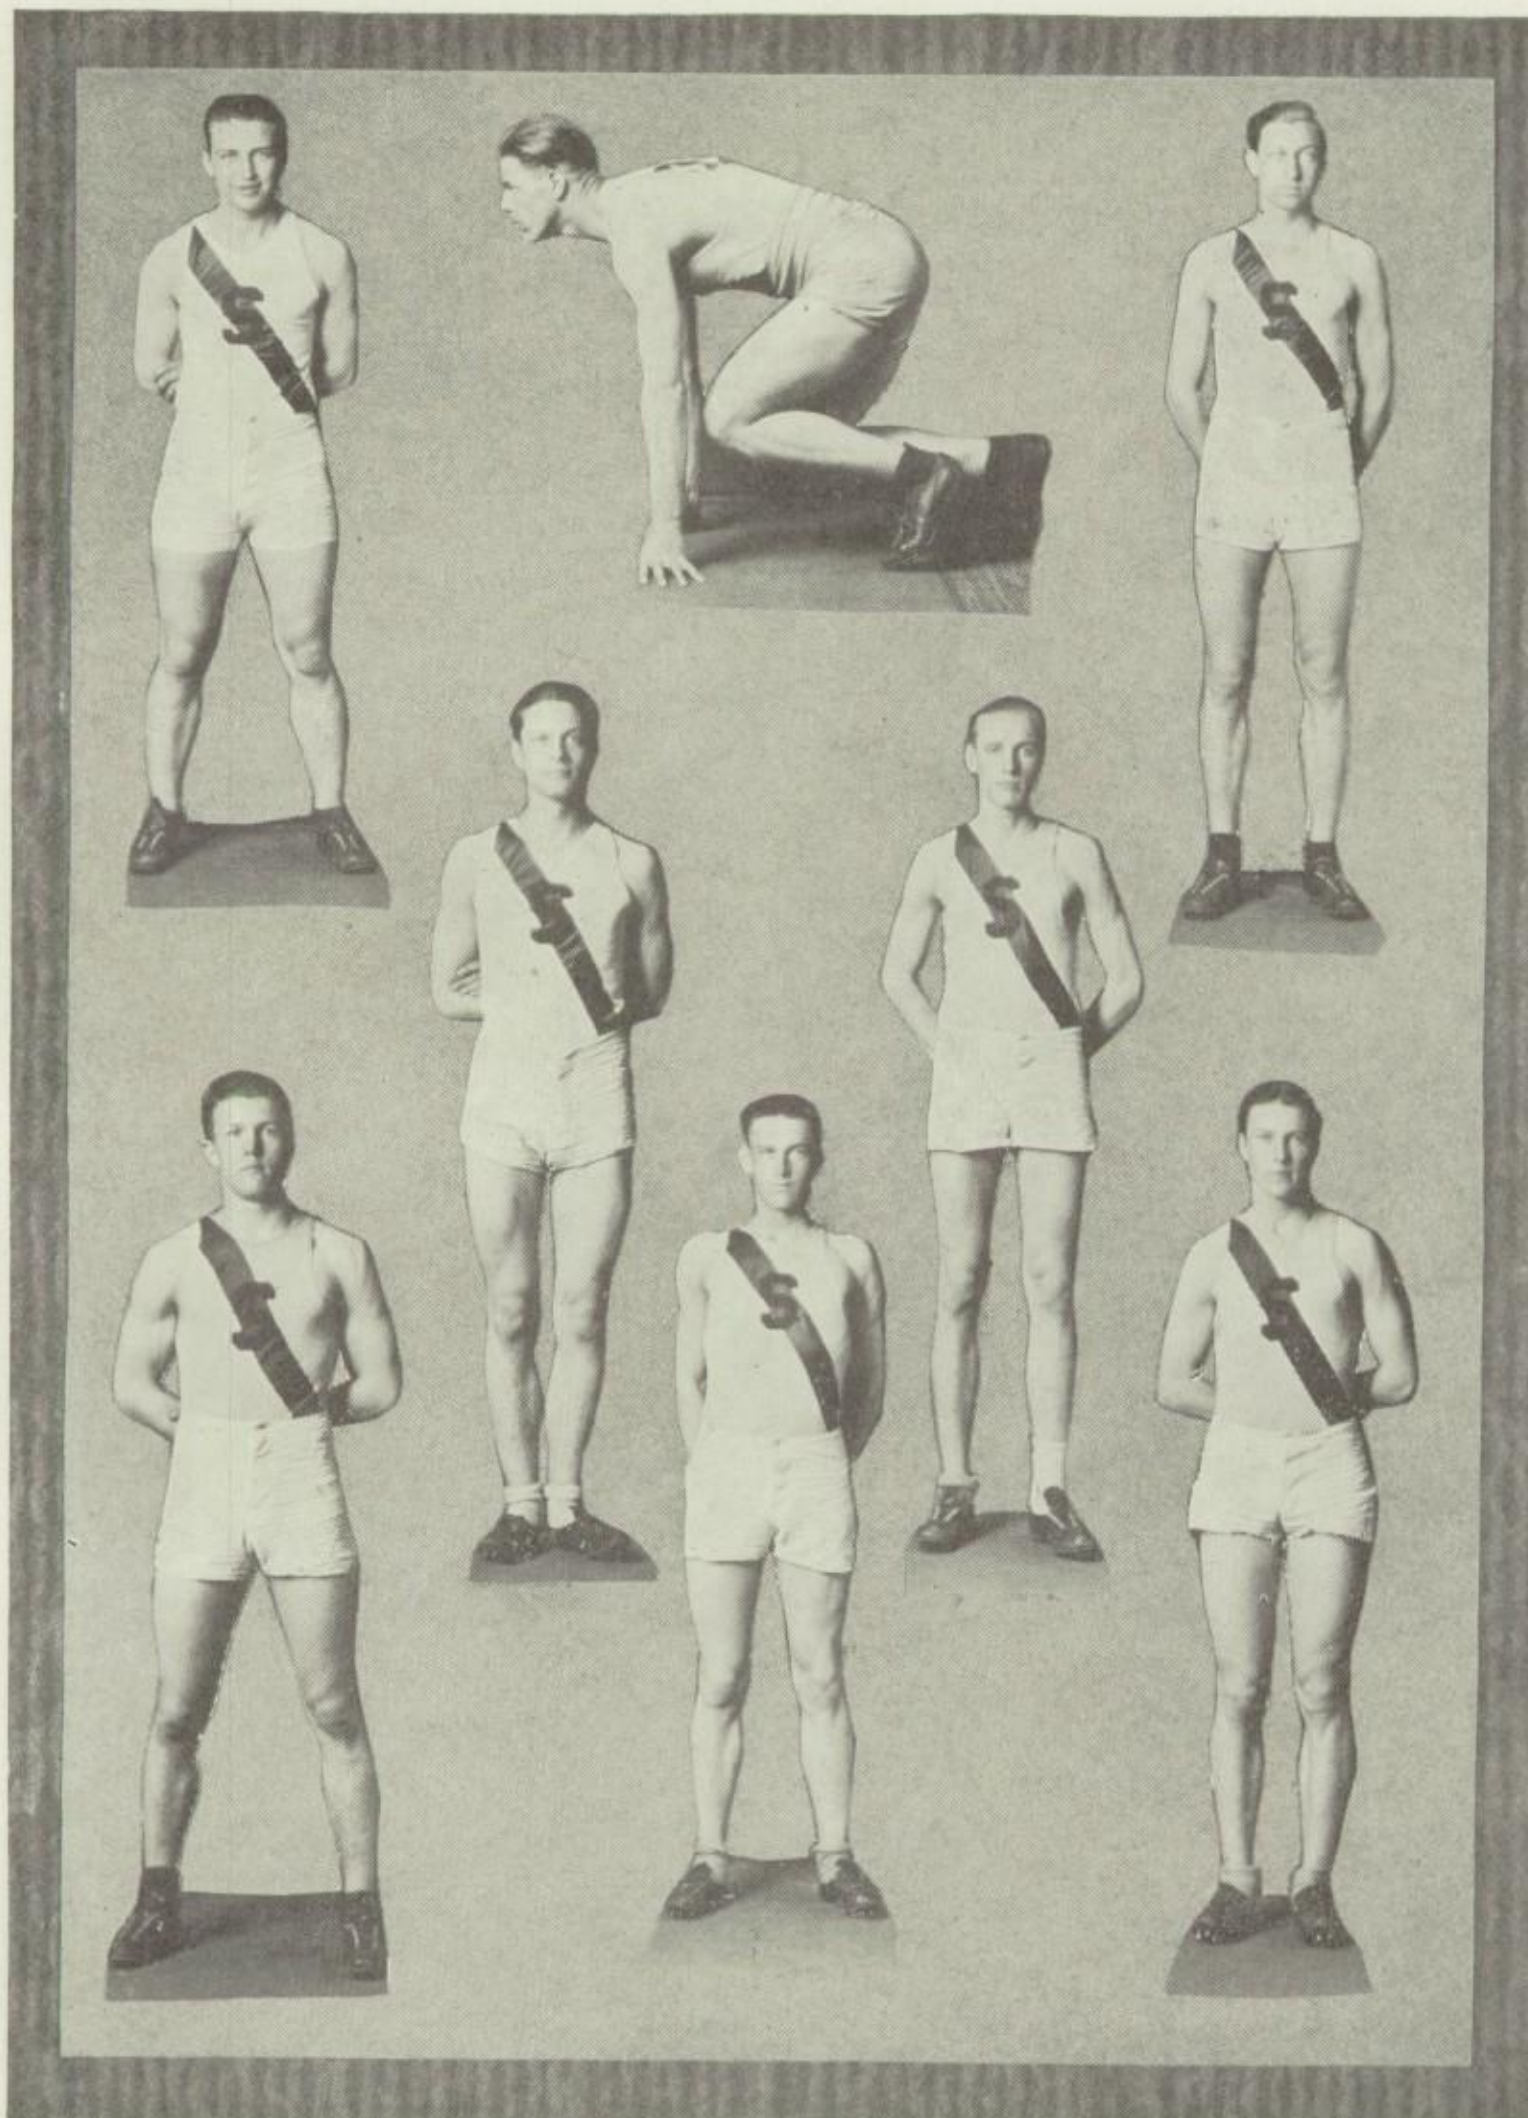

Youngblood took third in the 50-yard dash, Murphy placed fourth in the 440-yard dash and Conway fourth in the 880-yard run.

The half-mile relay team annexed a point and a half by tying for fourth with Senn High School of Chicago. Three Chicago schools finished in one, two, three order. The men who comprised the team were Carnes, Youngblood, Ryan and C. Schnepf.

HAVANA RELAY CARNIVAL.

The task of winning relays against a field of some thirty entries is quite a formidable one, yet Coach Baird produced several winners in the Havana Relay Carnival, the first of its kind in the state.

The 1924 season was a success throughout and with Jackson, Barbee, Trede, Murphy, Bretscher, Tomlinson and Dickerson eligible, besides a host of new men, 1925 should produce even a more successful team.

Tennis.

Tennis is not recognized as a minor sport in many high schools. However it is a part of the spring athletic program of the Springfield High School. Many boys who do not care to compete in the major sports are given a chance to develop themselves through tennis.

In response to the first call sent out for tennis players, eighteen names were handed in and arrangements were made to get together and encourage interest among the boys. Among those who were left from last year's team, three were sent to Urbana to compete in the State Meet. While we did not carry off any of the honors, the experience that it gave our boys, was well worth all that it cost.

An elimination tournament has been planned in order that each player might have a chance to win a high school letter. Those who make the best showing in the tournament will be allowed to play each other for the high school championship.

Mr. Henke the coach deserves credit for this year's tennis.

Golf.

Springfield High School is one of the few schools in Illinois to include golf in the list of competitive games. This year golf has been the most successful minor sport at S. H. S. Ten capable men were out for the varsity all season. Springfield opened the season by defeating Lincoln but was defeated by them in a return match. Jackson, whose work featured the first Lincoln match, was lost because of work on the track team, and was missed. Fayette Shuster was Springfield's only entry in the State inter-scholastic at Urbana. He placed eighth with a score of 256. The winning score was 236. Eighty athletes were entered in the meet and Shuster's record aided materially in putting the S. H. S. on the state golf map. The Red and Black later played matches with Peoria Manual.

Mr. C. A. Stevens, although new at the business, proved a faithful and successful coach. Before each match qualifying rounds to pick the team were staged under his supervision.

Dear Ed.: Enclosed find a copy of the Calendar for 1923-24. In compiling this calendar we had the assistance of two well-known students of the S. H. S.—Chubby Glubglub, a Freshman, and Skinny Pepys, a Senior. They divided the year in fortnightly periods and chronicled the events in various ways. Hoping the calendar meets with your approval.

Sept. 24—This day did arise early, since it is aschool day. Methinks there will be much wailing and gnashing of teeth on this, the first day of school after the week's respite from school duties.

Sept. 25—This day the Wranglers did have their annual election of officers. This morn to an assembly of boys, Mr. Patrick did make an announcement concerning the band which is to be formed.

Sept. 30—A committee did today select Mr. Harriman as the class advisor of the Senior Class.

Oct. 1—The Senior Class did this day elect their officers. James Richey was chosen as president of the class.

Oct. 2—The dirigible ZR1 did pass over the city today. Science is indeed most wonderful. The school was very much pleased, since we had a vacation during the second period.

Oct. 26—To the Junior Senior plays this night. Did much enjoy them. I oft reflect on the growing tendencies toward dramatic in our schools. Methinks it is a good thing.

Oct. 27—Carlinville did this day defeat us on the grid-iron by a score of 13 to 0. Albeit the game was hard fought.

Oct. 28—(Lord's Day.) Did this day see John Alfred Neu and Catherine Baum riding. They were still rehearsing a love scene of "The Mandarin Coat," although the play was given two days ago.

Oct. 30—In passing through the Auditorium this day did note thirteen boys capering on the stage directed by a pretty lady. They were rehearsing a stunt for the vaudeville.

Oct. 31—Tonight the Coffe-Miller Players to see "Androcles and the Lion," which methought a trifle irreligious, although far be it from me to criticize a world famous masterpiece. The grades are out now and if others fared as poor as I the average of the school will indeed be low.

Nov. 16—The societies do indeed make the school. Our societies did ably display their initiative tonight. They did give a vaudeville wherein was to be found much that was clever and humorous. Dame Rumor hath it that many Freshmen cried with fear when they saw the skel-etons.

Nov. 19—This day did chafe much at the new regulations. A guard doth accost one at each and every locker room. After a few experiences one doth feel that martial rule hath been established.

Nov. 23—This day to a Matinee Dance. As usual did much enjoy myself.

Nov. 28—The day of reckoning hath again arrived and departed leaving desolation in its wake. In brief the grades are out.

Nov. 29—"And after the days of sorrow shall come days of great joy." Thus speaketh the Good Book. Methinks it is very true, for today and tomorrow there is no school.

Nov. 30—The Wranglers did tonight hold a dance. Indeed one afflicted with bunions has a very hard time in this school.

THE DIARY.

Dec. 16—(Lord's Day.) Did repair to church today. A most unusual proceeding for me. However, I must admit it was not the hope of salvation that led me there but the hope that I might see a most beauteous damsel who doth attend this church. This day Heaven was kind and I did see her. Methinks, however, I shall remain silent until after Xmas, since all sorts of presents are most expensive this year.

Dec. 20—S. H. S. did suffer defeat this day at the hands of the Athens basketees. The score was 27 to 18.

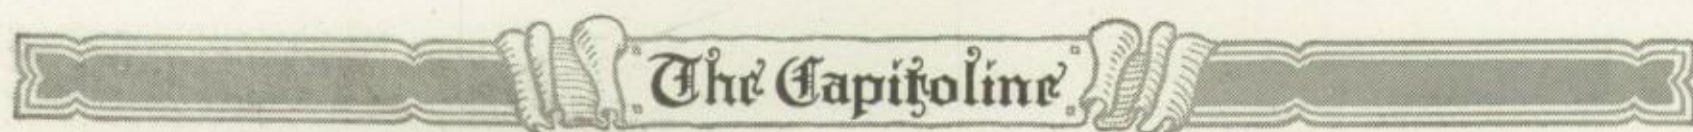

Dec. 21—The Yuletide vacation did begin this day. A round of social activities also begins which bids fair to turn us all into social butterflies.

Dec. 26—Did hear rumors today that Nate Jerald lost his pajamas at a house party in Pontiac.

Dec. 27—This night to a dance at Lincoln Inn given by four generous boys—"Stew" Ogg, "Razz" Armbruster, Jim Saries and Francis Thomas.

Dec. 28—This night to Roberta Conn's. Ruth Buckley did dance an excellent "Frisco" with the aid of Mr. Conn's derby.

Jan. 14—This day to assembly where Kemple who comes from N. Dakota did lecture long and earnestly upon the value of honesty. Methinks it a most seemly speche.

Jan. 18—Did again attend assembly this day. The Juniors did entertain with two estimable dramas, "The Hand of Siva" and "Square Pegs." Our school was much gratified by the presence of Edwin Markham, the poet, and he did recite some of his poems. This day we did also defeat Urbana 24 to 11.

Jan. 22—This night to Athens where our team did again suffer defeat.

Jan. 25—Our team was again victorious tonight defeating Decatur by a score of 16 to 11. Verily, revenge is sweet. Examinations did begin this day. Need more be said!

Feb. 12—This day did hear Dr. thomas at the Senior assembly and he is a most enjoyable speaker. Rumor hath it that on this day Harold Baker was seen escorting a girl home from school. Albeit some give credence to this tale, methinks it but an idle tale for one must be ever mindful lest he believe and repeat that which is an untruth.

Feb. 18—The ravages of war become noticeable. Springfield lost to Urbana because so many of our valiant basketeeers are in Herrin.

Feb. 22—To the Faculty-Senior game today at which I did laugh heartily.

Mr. Antle,
Sat by the mantle
Smoking his pipe of clay;
Until a young lady,
Whose name was Katy,
Up and stole his heart away.

Mr. Stevens: "Bryan is telling us what we ought to be."
Voice from rear: "I think he's telling us what we were."

Said a Senior boy to a Senior girl,
"I'm like a ship a sea.
Exams are near and I would fear
That floundered I will be."
"Oh, no," she replied, "The shore
I'll be,
Cans't rest your journey o'er."
Then silence fell and all was well
For the ship then hugged the shore.

"Women are more conceited than men," stated the woman lecturer.
They stand for hours before their mirrors to make a good appearance.
Men are more modest, and care nothing for appearance. Why, at this very moment the tie of the handsomest man in the room has slipped clear out from under his collar!"

Nine men were present—all nine felt their collars:—which goes to show—

Frank Pfeifer: Look! I pulled up this cornstalk all by myself.

Dorothy Jones: My, but you are strong!

Frank: I should say I am. The whole world has hold of the other end of it.

"Did Jackson write the Monroe Doctrine?" asked Charlene Reeves innocently.

"So your son's in college?" remarked
a friend of one of our alumni.
"How is he making it?"

"He isn't," replied the melancholy parent, "I'm making it and he's spending it."

Nate J.—(talking about the stars as he walks by a tree): Oh! Venus is hiding behind a tree.

Miss P.: Now people name some of the lower animals—starting with Martin.

Miss Neblic: You only spell already with one "l."

Ross A.: Which one shall I leave out?

Ekes Armbruster: Should a person be punished for something he hasn't done?

Miss Brunner: Why of course not.

E. A.: Well I didn't do my geometry.

Miss Welch: Lish get to work.

Lish: I was just waiting for my pencil to cool off.

Joe Munn: Ma may I go out to play?

Ma: What with those holes in your stockings!

Joe: No with the little girl next door.

Mr. Thomas (in the barber shop):
"For goodness sake: Why do you persist in telling me these horrible murder stories?"

Barber: "Well, you see, they help me by making your hair stand on end."

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Cast as suggested: Catherine Baum and Rueben Pollock.

They stood beneath the mistletoe,
He knew not what to do,
For he was only five feet tall,
And she was six feet, two.

—The crowded car came at last.

"Let's squeeze in here," said George Drack, tired of waiting.

"No, no," answered Mary Buckley, "Let's wait until we get home."

After the vaudeville one of our Latin teachers was heard to remark, "I have heard of lots of ponies in school, but never of a Ford."

Freshman: Say, mister, where is Room 301?

Mr. Davis: Are you lost?

Freshie: No. The room is.

Heard at the Inter-society party: Was your last partner a good dancer?

Second Male: Well, she was what you would call a toe-dancer, but she used my toes.

Freshman: I think that a car just passed—

Soph.: How do you know?

Fresh: I can see its tracks.

Question on Civics test: Where is Blackwell's Island, and how do you get there?

Answer: It is in the East river and you get there through the police court.

The rabbit (closely pursued by a hound): This everlasting hunting certainly does make me "hopping mad."

"Are you the trained-nurse?" asked four-year-old Billy.

"Yes, I'm the trained nurse."

"Let's see some of your tricks," said he.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Father: How is it you are so anxious to become a mining engineer, my son?

Larry Flinn: I intend to pursue my study of the gold-digger.

When I looked under "S" for Sea Otter
I thought that my reason would totter,
When "See Otter" I found
And a foot-note profound
Suggested I look under water.

Miss Brown: George, I can hardly read your writing.

George: Maybe my "i's" are too far apart.

Charles Schuck: I have a new Ash Car.

Dorothy Jones: What kind of a car is that?

Charles: An Ash Car is a second hand Cole.

Although unable to make the acquaintance of the young lady he met in the revolving door, Nat Jerald started going around with her.

Dorothy Jones: I have some of King Tut's coins.

Marion Abels: That's nothing. I have some of Adam's chewing gum.

He: It was love at first sight then?

She: Yes.

He: Then it must have been a bird's-eye view on his part.

John Alfred Nue (purchasing a parrot): Is he intelligent?

Dealer: Certainly. He is just as intelligent as you are.

Parrot (interrupting): Get me some prussic acid, quick.

A SOLAR PHENOMENON.

Bob Carnes: I couldn't sleep last night.

Ray Thompson: Why not.

Bob: I was kept awake all night by the daylight shining in through the window.

Geraldine Foster: Here's my picture I had taken last week. Don't you think it is good?

Chicken Reeves: Very nice indeed, but how you have changed.

"Phwat's the noise, Mrs. Casey?"

"Mary Ann's practicing on the scales."

"Begorrah, she must weight a ton."

John Handlin: Miss Chambers, English regiments have the right to bear arms haven't they?

Miss Chambers: Of course.

John: But it's different with Scotch regiments.

Miss Chambers: How's that?

John: They have the right to bare legs.

Freshie: Germany is a great cattle raising country, isn't it?

Teacher: What made you ask that?

Fresh: I have often heard it called the fodder-land.

Recently while a surgeon was operating upon a woman, the warehouse across from the operating room caught on fire, throwing a very vivid light into the room. Turning to the nurse near the doctor said—"Pull down the shade. I think the patient is coming out of the anaesthetic and I wouldn't want her to think the operation wasn't a success."

Gladys Levanius: "I don't think I'll take 'everyman' home tonight, because there wouldn't be enough room in the house for the family."

Mr. Simpson was telling how the pioneers paid for their purchases with cattle. Imy Oberman was perplexed. Finally he bravely spoke, "Mr. Simpson, if you took your girl out did you have to take a lot of cattle, too?"

TO THE BOTONY DEPARTMENT.

"Of what are you afraid, my child?"
 Inquired the kindly teacher.
 "Oh, sir, the flowers. They are so wild!"
 Replied the timid creature.

Judge: You are condemned to hang by the neck until dead—

Prisoner: Ah, Judge, I think you're stringing me.

"A gentleman to see you, mum."
 "Tell him I'm not receiving to-day."
 "He ain't deliverin', either, mum. He's collectin'."

Perplexed: "What part of the body is the 'fray'?"

Miss Dean: "Fray." "What do you mean."

Perplexed: "It says, 'Ivanhoe was wounded in the fray'."

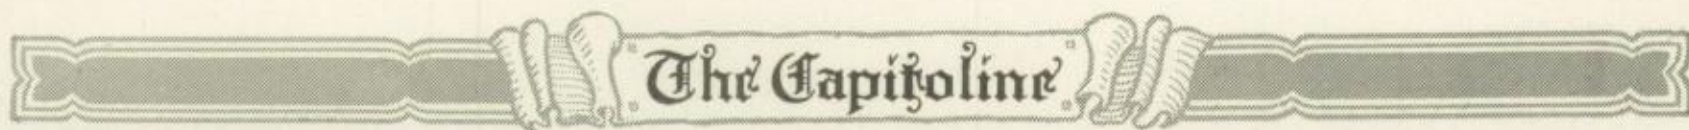

Policeman: Hey, don't you know that this is a one way street.

Gladys Ward: Well, I'm only going one way.

First Convict: When I get out of this place, I'm going to have a hot time, ain't you?

Second: I don't know, yet, I'm in for life.

Decatur with their warriors great,
 Came to S. H. S. by noon-day freight,
 Were beaten by us and in refrain,
 Returned to their home by a passenger train.

A SENIOR'S COMMENTARIES.

1. A big addition to Central would be a Cradle Roll List for all those under eleven years, and four feet in height.

2. The only "Solids" in this "Geometry" class are the heads.

3. "French is the language of the soul, that is why I gave it the boot."

4. I never could see the point to putting tacks on the professor's chair.

5. "History is based on the rocks of facts." No wonder its so blasted hard.

6. "Stone walls do not a prison make.

Nor iron bars a cage."

All it takes is one teacher to make both.

7. As exams draw near I'm in a "to do or not to do" perdicament just like Hamlet. If I don't sham-poo my hair my head will be heavy, if I do I'm liable to get light-headed."

8. Miss Baker's Cafeteria is sadly untimely in one line of food. The other morning I heard someone say, "Eight o'clock," and I've wanted to taste one ever since.

"Wille," asked the teacher, "describe a zebra."

"A Zebra," replied Willie, "is a sport model mule."

Bene Lloyd: Nate, do be careful with that lawnmower you'll cut me in ribbons.

Nate Jerald: You'd look pretty in ribbons.

WHEW!

"When ah had de influendways ah had a chill dat was so cold dat ah froze all de water pipes in de hors-pittle."

"Ain't nothin'. When I had de fever mah mouth done melted the doctah's thumometah an' ah had to wear asbestos pajamas to keep from bu'nin' de sheets."

Miss Chambers (having her shoes shined)—And is your father a boot-black, too.

Shoe-shiner—No, my father is a farmer.

Miss Chambers—Ah, he believes in making hay while the son shines.

"Are you sure you have shown me all the principal parts of the car," asked the lady of the salesman.

"Certainly," replied the latter, "all the main ones."

"Well, where's the depreciation? My husband says it is one of the biggest things about the car."

?: "Shay, can you (hie) tell me where (hie) the other side of the (hie) street is?"

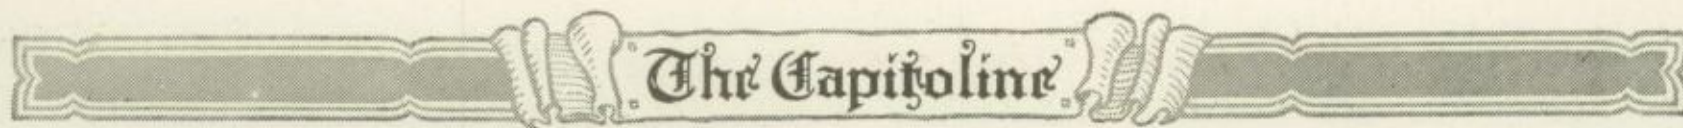

Man: "Yes right over there, sir."

?: "Thash funny, (hie) I was just over (hie) there and they said it was (hie) over here."

"Over in our yard," boasted Walter Binney, "we have a lilac bush fifty feet high."

"Gee," chimed in Norman Billington, "I wish I could lilac that."
